Dutch Plane Race Team May Receive Prize Of $10,000

Parmentier and Moll, Who Arrived at Melbourne From England After Scott-Black Machine, May Be Given the Handicap First Award; Turner-Pangborn Plane Landed Third

FLIERS TO RACE FOR $2,500 PRIZE

Melbourne, Oct. 24.—Sir Macpherson Robertson, Australian millionaire who donated prizes for the England-Australia air derby, to-day announced he was sponsoring a race from Melbourne to Tasmania and invited Derby fliers to enter. A prize of $2,500 will be offered.

Associated Press

Melbourne, Australia, Oct. 24.—An unofficial check indicated to-day Britain's brilliant airmen, C.W. A. Scott and T. Campbell Black, finished first in the handicap race in the England-Melbourne Derby.

But the Dutch entry, which came in to-day, some nineteen hours behind the winners, and two hours and forty-two minutes ahead of the United States team of Col. Roscoe Turner and Clyde Pangborn, stands an excellent chance of getting the handicap first prize of $10,000.

Under the rules for the Derby a pilot cannot win prizes in both races, but must choose between them.

Ten hours lost at Albany, 200 miles northeast of Melbourne, by K. D. Parmentier and J. J. Moll, of the Netherlands, probably cost them their chance of beating the Englishmen's time in the handicap event. Had they remained at Charleville or Narramine, checking points, this time would not have been counted against them. All time spent between checking points counts as time in the air.

Should Parmentier and Moll get the $10,000 handicap prize, the second prize of $7,500 in the speed race would go to Turner and Pangborn. At any rate the Americans are assured of the $2,500 third prize in the speed race.

It will be some days before official results can be announced, since time and "pay loads" must be checked. But for winning the speed race Scott and Black get $50,000 and a $2,500 gold cup.

PLANE FOUND TOO HEAVY FOR SCALES

Portsmouth, Eng., Oct. 24.—A jubilation among the backers of Col. James C. Fitzmaurice over a report that his airplane, Irish Sweep, had successfully passed its full load and landing tests were dashed to-day when it was found at the last minute that the testing scales would not hold the plane's weight.

The machine was barred from competition in the London-to-Melbourne air race because it had not completed these tests.

Oil Monopoly Brings Test In Manchukuo

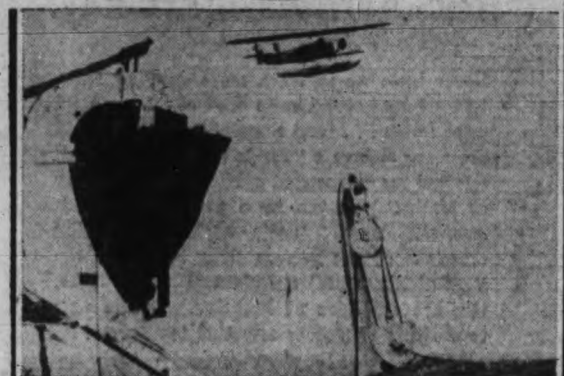

British and U.S. Companies Say New Developments Violate Treaty Rights

By GLENN BABB
Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Press

Tokio, Oct. 24.—Great Britain and the United States have faced Japan in a conflict of private interests providing the first test of whether the "open door" policy will be maintained by Manchukuo, it was learned to-day.

The controversy concerns the oil monopoly in Manchukuo, with western commercial interests claiming a violation of their treaty rights. British and United States oil companies, chief among them the British Asiatic Petroleum Company and the Standard Oil Company of New York, face an intensive struggle for existence in Manchukuo as the gov-

Camera's Quick Eye Catches Fatal Plane Crash at Sea

A news reel plane is shown flying toward the U.S. Lines' Es. Washington in the Atlantic, 650 miles east of New York, to pick up films of the assassination of King Alexander of Yugoslavia at Marseilles.

The plane is forced to risk a landing on the choppy sea. It throws a plume of spray the moment it touches the water.

Then disaster. The plane noses over. Henry Jackson, a mechanic, is killed. Four survivors cling to the fuselage, and are rescued by Captain George Friend's crew and carried back to New York.

As he progresses, he eats a centenary breakfast food with an elephantopod soup branded with a map of Australia and the word "Centenary." He then lights a centenary cigarette or a pipe of centenary tobacco with a centenary match.

There are centenary motor tires and lubricating oils, cough mixtures, starch, blue and clothes pegs.

MAYNARD ON STAND

Wife Also Testifies at Hearing To-day; New Document Introduced

James William Maynard at noon to-day took the stand in his own defence in the trial before Judge Ellis in which he is charged with converting to his own use the house and property of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Brown, 2916 Fifth Street, which he held in trust.

A surprise feature of the evidence to-day was the production on the witness stand by H. A. Beckwith, counsel for the Browns, and a prosecution witness, of the document covering the reconveyance of the Browns' property from Mr. Maynard. This had been signed by Mr. Maynard in Mr. Beckwith's office and contained among its clauses an admission by Mr. Maynard that the property had been held "in trust" by him.

SAYS HE DID NOT SEE THEM

When Mr. Maynard entered the witness box and was examined by his counsel, A. J. Patton, he protested that he did not know that the incriminating words "in trust" were in the document he signed.

"I read the recitals of the document prepared by Mr. Beckwith and protested strenuously against the phraseology, such as 'in trust' and 'fraudulently' and with wilful intent to defraud," Mr. Maynard told the court. "I said I would not sign such a statement."

Mr. Beckwith said you had better sign it or it will be just too bad for you, said I would not sign until those words came out.

Finally, Mr. Maynard went on, Mr. Beckwith consented to making changes along the line desired. Then Mr. Maynard signed the document, but he testified he did not see the words "in trust" near the bottom of the page. He said he did not know such words had been there, until he went into bankruptcy and his lawyer drew his attention to them.

"Those words were not there when I signed," Mr. Maynard continued. "Mrs. Maynard knows I would not sign with such words there, and I protested."

"You are making a serious charge that the words 'in trust' were incorporated after you signed the document," said Judge Ellis.

"Well, I did not see them there," Mr. Maynard replied.

"Now you are changing and saying you did not see them," the judge said. "It is a simple matter for you to answer."

The judge had the document handed up to the bench so he could see whether it was possible for the words complained of to have been added after Mr. Maynard had signed.

Some of Mr. Maynard's answers caused disturbance among those in the court, and the spectators had to be cautioned.

The police seized one man who lost control of himself and ejected him from the court.

EVIDENCE FOR KIDNAP TRIAL

Mrs. T. H. Robinson's Counsel to Call Mrs. B. V. Stoll at Louisville, Ky., Hearing

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 24.—Defense of Mrs. Thomas H. Robinson Jr., indicted for participating in the abduction of Mrs. Berry V. Stoll, will rest principally on Mrs. Stoll herself and members of her family, according to Clyn W. Higgins, Mrs. Robinson's attorney.

Mrs. Robinson, indicted with her husband and father-in-law yesterday, pleaded not guilty to the charge. To-day tentative plans were made to have the trial start October 29.

The lawyer told newspaper men he planned to subpoena Mrs. Stoll, Frederick M. Sackett, former U.S. senator and diplomat, and an uncle by marriage of Mrs. Stoll, C. C. Stoll, father-in-law of the erstwhile captive, and Perry Bailey, Nashville lawyer, who Huggins said received the $50,000 ransom package from an express agency. Huggins said he was a marital relation of Mrs. Stoll.

"They will tell the truth," Huggins said, "even though the Department of Justice has temporarily put the relation of Mrs. Stoll."

He repeated his claim that Mrs. Robinson was "the instrument" of members of the family and the government in effecting the restoration of Mrs. Stoll after six days' captivity in an Indianapolis apartment with young Robinson.

Police are still hunting for Robinson.

CANAL CUT IS UNDER SURVEY

Engineers Investigate Portage Inlet-Thetis Cove Scheme

The advisability of dredging a canal from Portage Inlet, Victoria Arm, to Thetis Cove, Esquimalt, will be investigated by the Dominion engineering department. Word to this effect was contained in a letter received at the City Hall to-day from H. A. Stewart, federal Minister of Public Works.

The project is a reply to one sent forward on a motion sponsored by the council, asking the federal authorities to investigate the advisability of the cut.

"I have your favor the 12th inst. quoting a resolution passed at a recent meeting of the Municipal Council of Victoria with regard to dredging a channel from Portage Inlet, Victoria Arm, to Thetis Cove, and requesting the engineering branch of the department to look into this matter and submit a report," the letter read above the minister's signature.

The project is one of the oldest in the city, the matter having come up for consideration as far back as the year 1880.

In forwarding the motion which was endorsed by the council some time ago, Alderman Hunter pointed to several advantages which would accrue from the canal. It would help purify the upper reaches of the George water and Portage Inlet, would enhance the scenic attractions and improve land values, the alderman stated.

Utilities Board Is Union Desire

Disappointed at Report Government Will Not Have Legislation Next Year

In view of reports the provincial government would not bring in legislation for a public utilities commission or a highway commission at the next session, the executive of the Union of B.C. Municipalities, at its emergency session here to-day, passed resolutions reaffirming its position on these matters.

Dealing with the public utilities commission, a resolution reported from the Premier that no public utilities commission legislation will be before the House next year, in view of the fact it was definitely promised.

Mr. Crounch said one of the arguments advanced against the commission was that of cost. However, he thought there were a number of exceptionally good men in the province who would serve on such a board without pay.

Several other speakers voiced the need for legislation of this kind. Reeve J. B. Leyland of West Vancouver, sponsored a resolution reaffirming the union's opinion that a highway commission was essential and should be appointed at the earliest possible date.

Three men leaped from a car, pointed pistols at those in the company automobile and ordered the paymaster and the guard to raise their hands. They then seized a valise containing the payroll, scrambled back into their own car and vanished.

EXPECT DROP IN TAX SALE

Treasury Officials of City Anticipate Annual Sale to Be Half Size of Last Year

If the payment to date of tax arrears can be taken as a certain indication, officials of the city's treasurer department expect this year's tax sale to be only about half as large as that of last year.

The big rush for payment of arrears will set in next week as those who have neglected to meet their delayed levies bring in funds to protect their holdings from the sale. In the majority of arrears cases, payment of 1933 sums only is anticipated, since that will keep property off the auction block.

So far during the year the collections have been considerably above the estimates which in themselves were over the collections of last year.

Bigger Business Loans in the U.S.

MONTREAL GIRL LISTED FOR TRIAL

Canadian Press
Montreal, Oct. 24.—Voluntary statement yesterday was fixed for October 30 in the case of Lillian Morel, a cabaret entertainer, also known as Dolores Lopez, on a charge of murdering William Owen, bond salesman, in her apartment October 6.

Judge Maurice Tremblay decided the case should proceed, despite defence claims there was no proof of murderous or criminal intent, and that the accused had stabbed her lover in self-defence when he threatened to strangle her in a drunken rage.

Owen was found by Dr. Hamelin, bleeding to death from a knife wound in the side. Accused had hit the doctor herself in Owen's ear. While he was bending over the victim, the girl slipped out and drove away in the direction of Longueuil, Que., where she had relatives. She was picked up by police in a befuddled condition and with a broken nose, suffered when the Owen car crashed into a telephone pole.

Physician Is Cleared of Charge

Canadian Press
Edmonton, Oct. 24.—Dr. Conrad G. Giegge, city physician, yesterday was acquitted by Judge J. C. Crawford in district court of a charge laid under Section 237 of the Criminal Code relating to offences against dead bodies.

Dr. Giegge's trial was a result of allegedly removing a piece of skin from the wrist of Alma Armstrong, August 27 last, as the body lay in an undertaking establishment pending an inquest. Capt. T. W. Higginson subsequently was acquitted of a charge of murdering the girl.

Dr. Giegge, evidence said, had removed the skin in anticipation of securing powder marks that would be of importance to the defence.

The court found the doctor "acted purely in the interests of another whose life was in danger and, as he believed, in the interests of justice and to protect a human life."

ARMISTICE DAY SERVICE IN LONDON

Canadian Press
London, Oct. 24.—By the command of the King, the commemoration of Armistice Day on November 11 will follow the familiar lines of previous years. Shortly before 11 o'clock wreaths will be deposited on the Cenotaph in Whitehall, or on behalf of the King and the members of the royal family. Following the two minutes' silence, the Bishop of London will conduct a short service. In Bradford the ex-servicemen have declined to join the civic procession to the war memorial on Armistice Day, but propose holding a service of their own after the civic ceremony. The ex-servicemen allege that when Armistice Day last fell on a Sunday they were relegated to a position at the rear and saw practically nothing of the proceedings. On the other hand, the Lord Mayor-elect says the British Legion has demanded half the platform to be reserved for its members, and this request it is impossible to grant.

CHICAGO FAIR TO END WEEK HENCE

Century of Progress Exposition Will Wind Up With Great Fireworks Display

Associated Press
Chicago, Oct. 24.—Another week and Chicago's Century of Progress Exposition will be history.

The $10,000,000 spectacle will end its two-year run with its most pretentious fireworks display on the night of October 31.

Nero-like, the doomed fair fiddles away its remaining hours and carries on its resolve to die in a blaze of glory. Its closing event will be Chicago's biggest Halloween party, with all concessions and exhibitors taking part.

When the gates close at midnight, October 31, more than 30,000,000 paying guests will have been admitted. Of these 22,565,859 passed through the turnstiles last year. The 15,000,000th visitor of 1934 is expected to-day.

From a financial viewpoint, the fair has been the most successful of its kind ever held. M. M. Tveit, exposition controller, said to-day. On November 1 another payment will be made on the fair's $10,000,000 bond, bringing the total returned to bondholders to 94 per cent, exclusive of interest payments.

LABOR REGAINS BRITISH SEAT

G. R. Strauss Returned to Commons in North Lambeth By-election

Canadian Press
London, Oct. 24.—Labor gained a seat in the House of Commons yesterday when G. R. Strauss, the Liberal, defeated Mr. Stratus. The vote was: 11,281 votes for Strauss, 4,968 for J. W. Simpson. Liberal, 2,927 for J. P. Markham. National Labor, and 305 for Mrs. Alice Brown, Independent Imperialist.

In the general election of 1931 Mr. Bryant was defeated by a majority of 7,602 votes over Mr. Strauss. The vote was: Bryant, 16,388; Strauss, 8,786.

Yesterday's was the forty-fifth by-election since the general election of three years ago. North Lambeth is in the last class, having been held by Mr. Strauss for Labor prior to 1931.

PROTEST MADE ON TEACHINGS

Edmonton Clergy May See Alberta Premier About Certain Professors

Canadian Press
Edmonton, Oct. 24.—An appeal to Premier R. G. Reid will be made if professors at the University of Alberta are not restrained from teaching anti-Christian doctrines, according to Bishop A. E. Burgett, head of the Edmonton Anglican diocese.

"Sunday's condemnations in Edmonton pupils of the professors' anti-religious teachings were merely the explosion of feelings long gathering," Bishop Burgett said.

"We are content for the moment with the reaction which the clergy's point of view has had. Now we intend to wait and watch, to see whether President R. W. Wallace forces his professors to desist from deriding Christianity."

"If they do not stop, three or four of us from the Edmonton clergy will go to Premier Reid as a delegation and ask him to force the university faculty to stop unchristian teachings which are ruining the faith of our young people."

NEW LIVESTOCK MARKET PLAN

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Oct. 24.—Regulation of the marketing of livestock under the Natural Products Marketing Act may be first applied in Saskatchewan. The Dominion Marketing Board has before it a livestock scheme proposed by P. E. Roblin, president of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Livestock Producers' Limited.

Under the scheme, all producers of livestock would be registered, the marketing of livestock would be on a pool basis, and packers, wholesalers and retail dealers would operate under a license. It would first become operative in Saskatchewan. The Alberta and Manitoba, and later in the whole of Canada.

There would be a central sales agency to handle sales of livestock arranged for by provincial marketing boards. After the initial expenses for which funds provided by parliament may be used, it is proposed the industry should finance itself and make no demands on the public treasury.

ADVOCATES NEW LUXURY TAXES

Canadian Press
Windsor, Ont., Oct. 24.—John Appleton, secretary of the Dominion Mortgage and Investment Association of Toronto, in an address here yesterday, declared steps should be taken to find ways and means of tapping the millions of dollars spent annually in Canada on luxuries, the enjoyment of which was unknown to the forefathers of present citizens.

Mr. Appleton, a member of the central committee of the control boards supervising the seven defaulting border municipalities outside of Windsor, contended the spending of these moneys did not contribute to better standards of living or of citizenship.

They could be used to much better advantage in alleviating conditions of the unemployed, he said.

NOW BANQUETS SHOULD BE POPULAR

The world will owe its thanks to the Chicago Lighting Institute for the invention of a stop-and-go light for after-dinner speakers. The gadget consists of three lights, green, yellow and red, and its purpose is to control the time of the speaker. It can be set for any length of time, and as a speaker is introduced a button is pressed. Should he speak through the duration of the red light a bell will ring. The invention should also prove of great benefit at political meetings. Carl Zersen is shown demonstrating the new invention.

BROWNS' LETTER PUZZLES JUDGE

Maynard Trial Twice Faced Sudden Ending; Police Eject Spectator

The trial of James William Maynard on the criminal charge of converting the property of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Brown while it was held in trust, nearly came to a sudden end in the middle of Tuesday afternoon, when Judge Ellis read the letter of the Browns to Mr. Maynard dated January 30, 1934, which was introduced into evidence.

This letter complained of lack of payments by Mr. Maynard of the $5,000 price basis on which the house and land had been transferred into his name, and proposed a new long-term agreement with monthly payments and with the price to Mr. Maynard reduced to $4,500.

"Where was the criminal offence if the accused did not keep up his payments?" asked Judge J. N. Ellis. The judge went on to call the attention of Prosecutor Cleve G. White to the statement in the letter that if Mr. Maynard did not enter into the second proposed agreement the Browns would proceed to force collection on the $5,000 note given under the first agreement.

Examination of witnesses was halted while the judge discussed the points in the letter. He suggested to the prosecutor that in view of these statements he might well consider the future of the case.

"If Your Honor takes that view of the case to Maynard, then that is the end of the case," said Mr. White.

A. J. Patton, defence counsel, said it was obviously the situation and urged that the case be brought to an end there and then.

Mr. White, however, said he was relying on another point and the hearing was ordered to continue.

When some of the evidence produced an outburst of open laughter from the court crowd, Judge Ellis signalled out one man seated at the end of the courtroom by the police attendants.

"This is not a vaudeville show," said the judge. "It is a very serious matter."

Because The Gazette, official weekly record publication of the British Columbia government, made a mistake, the prosecution faced the prospect of having its case thrown out at the start on a technicality, without the taking of evidence on the criminal charge.

SANCTION ESTABLISHED

At noon Tuesday the court adjourned after Defence Counsel Patton had argued that the required consent for prosecution from the Attorney-General had been signed by Hon. K. C. MacDonald as acting Attorney-General. Evidence of enabling order-in-council published in The Gazette had been introduced, but these Mr. Patton pointed out did not cover Dr. MacDonald during the time when he signed the consent for prosecution.

Upon resumption Tuesday afternoon, Deputy Attorney-General Oscar Macdonald appeared in the courtroom and produced the original minutes of the council covering the empowering of Dr. MacDonald. It was explained that The Gazette had made a mistake, but the minutes now corrected it. The judge then ruled that the sanction of the Attorney-General had been legally established and ordered the trial to proceed.

J. B. BROWN ON STAND

Joseph Robert Brown, the informant against Mr. Maynard, was called to the stand by Prosecutor Cleve White at 2:55 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Under examination by Prosecutor White he told his story. The house and two lots at 2916 Fifth Street had belonged to him and his wife, Agnes Amelia Clara Brown, and before September, 1932, there had been no mortgage on that property.

"You had some deal with Mr. Maynard?" Mr. White asked.

"On August 18, 1932, I went into Mr. Maynard's store to buy a pair of boots," Mr. Brown replied. "Mr. Maynard came to serve me. In the conversation I told him our house was getting too big for Mr. Brown and myself. I can sell it for $5,000 and he said he could sell it for me within three months.

"When Mr. Maynard came out to the house he said he thought he could do better with it if he had the deeds as he could get away with it more quickly. We thought it was very unusual, but he said he had got other property that way. He kept talking and stayed in the house and there was no driving him out until he got the answer.

"What about the security?" we asked. Mr. Maynard said, "I'll be the security." He said he would give us a note and pay us $33 a month, and would come out to our house every month and pay it himself.

Mr. White: "Did he say anything about any commission?" Mr. Brown: "He said he did not charge any commission, but he wanted us to give him a loan of $2,000 after he sold the property and he said he would pay us 8 or 10 per cent interest."

Mr. Brown also testified that Mr. Maynard said he would look after the taxes on the property.

Mr. Maynard had also told them that real estate agents were difficult to sell such property through as they had their own property they always sought to sell first.

"The next morning Mr. Maynard came out with blank forms," Mr. Brown went on. "We signed the blank form and he telephoned a clerk in his store to come from the store to be witness. Mr. Maynard then took away the blank form. It was supposed to be a conveyance of the property to Mr. and Mrs. Maynard."

"What happened to the certificate of title?" Mr. White asked.

"He took it away with him," Mr. Brown replied.

"Did he give you anything?" Mr. White asked.

"No, he gave me nothing but the $5,000 note," Mr. Brown replied. "He was to pay $33 a month until he sold the property. But up to date I have had less than $100 in twenty-six months."

Mr. White: "Why did he give you the note?"

Mr. Brown: "I thought I ought to have some sort of security to know what was doing."

Mr. White: "Who suggested the note?"

SAYS NOTE GIVEN

he heard Mr. Maynard had put a mortgage on the property.

Mr. Brown: "Mr. Maynard was out to the place about a year later and walking around the place and he said he did not see why it was he could not sell it. He said he supposed it was because there was a mortgage on it—that was the first I knew of any mortgage and I went to see my lawyer."

Replying to questions from Mr. Patton, Mr. Brown said it was true Mrs. Brown grew grapes but he and she did not go in for wine-making.

"We had some that was boiled down but it was not exactly wine," Mr. Brown went on in reply to further questioning.

He declared that on the visit of August 18, 1932, he said Mrs. Brown had not given Mr. Maynard any wine. He also denied that they had given Mr. Maynard any vegetables or jars of preserves, or jars of peaches or canned chicken.

Mr. Brown denied the transfer to Mr. Maynard had been a sale.

Mr. Patton produced a statement made out by Mr. Brown in December, 1933. In this Mr. Brown had cut down the price by $500 to $4,500. Mr. Patton asked why he did that.

Mr. Brown: "I was getting any money from Mr. Maynard and he came out and asked me what agreement I would make with him. I wrote the note, he stayed out all night and wanted to give me new notes to replace the original note. But I said, 'No more notes from you.'"

Mr. Patton asked Mr. Brown whether he had signed an agreement produced in court and which had been drawn up by J. Y. Copeman, a lawyer.

Mr. Brown admitted it was his signature but he didn't know what was in the document as he had signed it in blank.

Mr. Patton: "Did you have the grape juice there then?"

Mr. Brown: "Yes, we gave him a drink that day."

Mr. Patton: "This is a conveyance of your property to Mr. Maynard."

Mr. Brown: "I don't read it and I don't know what's in it."

CLAIM IN BANKRUPTCY

Mr. Brown admitted he had signed for a claim in bankruptcy proceedings. He also admitted that the letter of Mr. Maynard dated to Mr. Maynard and signed by "J. B. Brown" had been written and signed in his name by his wife. This letter asked for payment on the $4,500 agreement reached on December 18, 1933. This letter said that because of the Browns' need of money, they planned to make use of the Maynard note and cash it, so Mr. Maynard would then have to pay the full amount.

Judge Ellis pointed out that in this letter the Browns had admitted by Mr. Brown that the Browns had agreed to enter into a long-term agreement.

"What is the criminal offence, Mr. White?" the judge asked.

Mr. White: "It dates back to the time when he got the conveyance and mortgage on the property."

Mr. Patton asked Mr. Brown why he had not laid information or taken action long before.

"I am not prosecuting, but the Attorney-General is," Mr. Brown went on.

Mr. Patton: "But you were the informant."

Judge Ellis pointed out to Prosecutor White that the chief witness called by the Crown had written a letter that had been put in evidence and this letter to Mr. Maynard said that if he did not carry out the second agreement to pay $4,500 on January 15, 1934, then he would have to pay $5,000 under the first agreement.

Judge Ellis: "What was the crime?"

Mr. White: "The crime was the property on trust and the crime consisted in a breach of that trust in that he had mortgaged it. It is just the same as if he stole."

Mr. White asked the judge to let him see the Brown letter so he might look it over.

"Your Honor takes the view that this was a sale to Maynard and that is the end of the case," Mr. White went on.

Judge Ellis: "If the Crown Counsel insists that in spite of that letter he has other evidence, I will stay here to listen to the case as I am bound to do."

To further questioning by Mr. Patton, Mr. Brown admitted that his lawyer, H. A. Beckwith, had started civil action in the Supreme Court to recover against Mr. Maynard, and also to recover out of the Land Registry Office assurance funds.

Copeman, lawyer, called by the prosecution, testified about drawing up the agreement covering the transfer of Mr. Richardson's Elk Lake mortgage to the Browns property in Victoria and the reduction of it from $3,000 to $2,500. He also testified regarding drawing up the conveyance from the Browns to Mr. Maynard. Mr. Copeman testified that Mr. Maynard had received nothing at all in these transactions, but some interest and $300 principle had been paid off.

RECORDS PRODUCED

Henry L. Robinson of the Land Registry Office produced records of the titles and mortgage on the Browns house at 2916 Fifth Street and the $2,500 loaned on mortgage to Mr. Maynard on the Fifth Street property by Josephine Lillian Richardson.

Also produced were documents covering a mortgage for $3,000 held by Mr. Richardson and Edith Richardson Helmecken on the Elk Lake property of Mr. Maynard.

Joseph E. Mireault, this property to Joseph E. Mireault and the mortgage release.

H. A. Beckwith, called by the prosecution, testified the Browns had consulted him in February, 1934, Mr. Maynard came to see him a few days later, February 22.

"I told him I required a reconveyance of the property to the Browns and a release of the mortgage which had been placed on the property by him," Mr. Beckwith went on. "On his assurance he made arrangements for this we left the matter. The strength of this I drew a release of mortgage."

"Matters dragged, however, until March 6, when I prepared and issued the writ of summons and its pendens."

Mr. Beckwith testified that that afternoon Mr. Maynard had called him and had asked that the action would be discontinued, giving his personal assurance. Mr. Beckwith came in, however, and the document of reconveyance from Mr. Maynard to the Browns was executed.

Mr. Patton objected to this document being admitted in evidence as it had been "signed under undue influence."

Mr. Beckwith was still on the stand when the court adjourned at 4:30 o'clock until 10:30 o'clock this morning, when Mr. Patton was to start on his cross-examination.

LARGER GIRLS NOW FAVORED

They Have More Contours, More Poundage and More Breadth

New York, Oct. 24.—Tastes have changed since the late Texas gals used to plead with Broadway hot-spotters to give her little girls a great big hand. These events, in the clubs and at the revues, big girls are getting the applause. They are taller, at least, and are equipped with more contours than chorus girls have been in a long time. Diets are not nearly so stringent, a fact doubtless noticeable to every stage-door, John, Dick and Harry who takes a languorous lass out to dinner. Dance directors are pleased with the new vogue because they have found that normal-figured chorines can work faster and longer than thin ones. This is not a forecast of the return of the old-time spear-carriers, who reached amazonian chest-dimensions of forty-five inches and strained the scales at 180 pounds. All one means is that a chorus girl who dances may weigh up to 120 pounds, be five feet seven-inches in height, and have thirty-five-inch chest and hip measurements. The show girl, who is not expected to do anything but walk with reasonable grace, comes larger. The Casino de Paris revue—er, entourage, incidentally, which is going on for a few weeks—has a couple of dozen show girls ranging from five feet nine-inches to six feet in height. Practically all the chorines being selected for the new shows this season are classified anatomically as "good, big mediums." That means heights of at least five feet five inches, bust of at least thirty-four inches, waists of twenty-five to twenty-six inches, hips thirty-five inches and ankles eight inches. Not Junoesque, exactly, but certainly a change from only a few years ago, when five feet three inches was the desired height and 100 pounds a fair weight.

MORE SAILORS, MORE SOLDIERS

Washington, D.C., Oct. 24.—This building up of naval vessels to treaty limits under the public works plan means more sailors and officers. There will be more demands this winter for larger navy personnel, especially line officers. The army, too, will ask more consideration, basing its requests on the recent "paper manoeuvres" around Haritan, N.J., in which theoretical attacks were beaten off by theoretical tanks of a kind which the army has not any of.

CRAFTS CLASS IS ORGANIZED

Leather Work, Embroidery and Designing to Be Taught at Night School

Artistic work in leather, embroidery, fashion drawing and dress designing will be taught in a class being organized at the night school under the direction of Mrs. Ina D. D. Unthoff. The work will include instruction in making tooling and stained leather purses, bags, cases and other useful articles. The embroidery will be done on canvas, linen and muslin cloth, in colored-wools and silks in various designs. In the designing section the subjects will include pencil, pen and ink, as well as color work. Registration should be made at the school board office, telephone G 1412, or at the Victoria High School, 730 p.m., to 9:30 p.m., Mondays and Thursdays. A class in Chinese also is being formed, under the instruction of an ex-member of Shanghai Municipal Police Force.

Anniversary of W.M.S. Observed

Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society in Existence Seventy Years

Special to The Times. Sooke, Oct. 24.—The Women's Missionary Society of Knox Presbyterian Church held its regular meeting on October 18 at the home of Mrs. J. Murray, president. The meeting opened with the usual exercises, scripture reading, prayer and the singing of the hymn, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past." After the reading of the minutes Mrs. Murray gave personal reminiscences of the beginnings of medical missionary work in Canada, speaking of the little band of devoted women who had such difficulty in being admitted to medical colleges until the Royal Medical School in Kingston finally opened its doors to men and women alike. Miss Marion Oliver, designated to work in India, was the first of the missionaries.

Mrs. S. Lundie gave a comprehensive account of the formation, rise and growth of the Women's Missionary Society from the time it was organized in Montreal in 1864 as the Ladies' Auxiliary Association, and worked under the French mission work of the Church of Scotland in Canada.

The name of the society underwent many changes as the work grew and the country expanded, until now the name is the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, with the motto "Divided as we are in this last great west from our sister societies, we nevertheless hold high the banner of our beloved church with its traditional missionary work." The society is now comprised of 140 branches, with a membership of 2,538; also thirty-four mission bands, girls' and young women's work. The society is proud of its young missionaries: Miss Douglas and Miss Moodie, in India; Miss Esther Armstrong, Chinese worker in Toronto; Miss Margaret Gregor, in the Peace River, all recruited in British Columbia. There is also a future missionary in Miss Ruth Heighlin, of Vancouver, who is now training. Two young Chinese girls, Miss Lily Young and Miss Lilian Young, have also been in training in the deaconess' training department for a social hour. Mrs. R. Seymour and Mrs. A. Kohout serving tea.

FIRST YOUTH RALLY TO-DAY

Young People's Problems Will Be Discussed at Chamber Auditorium

A wide range of subjects touching on the problems of youth will be covered by the speakers at Victoria's first "youth rally" in the Chamber of Commerce this evening. Prior to the speeches community singing will enliven the gathering for fifteen minutes. There will also be musical numbers between the speeches. While the rally is primarily for the purpose of organizing youth into an effective body of opinion, and it is hoped that young people of Victoria and district will form the greater part of the audience in the hall, an invitation is extended to older members of the general public who may be interested. The Federated Council of Youth, which is staging the rally, announces that during the open forum period only the youth section of the audience can be permitted to take part, since shortage of time will not allow a general discussion from all present, and it is particularly desired to get the advice of the younger people and their reactions to the speakers. The Federated Council of Youth will appreciate the co-operation of the older people in this respect. James Gibson, who will take for his subject "World Problems," is well qualified to deal with the topic, having been within the last year or two travelled in eighteen European countries, including France, Germany, Switzerland, Spain, Portugal, Poland and Czechoslovakia. He is past president of the British Universities League of Nations Society, and was also first Canadian member of the governing body of the International Student Service. Idelle Wilson, speaking on "Youth's Reaction," has also travelled extensively in Europe. She is a student of the London School of Economics. Don Smith, who will deal with the question, "What Are We Doing?" is a young island writer whose stories and articles have appeared in leading Canadian and American magazines. He is also known as a writer and speaker on economic subjects touching on the problems of youth to-day. His feature article, "Where Will Youth See Its Next Horizon?" appeared in the magazine section of last Saturday's Times. The final speaker of the evening, Harold Winch, M.P.P., will speak on "The Great Opportunity."

OFF BRIDESMAID AT LAST MARRIES

London, Oct. 24.—The old proverb "Three times a bride, a woman never a bride" has been triumphantly disproved by Miss Marjorie Wickes who lives at Edenbridge, Kent. She has been a bridesmaid fourteen times—but now she has married G. R. Appleyard, a Londoner. "After so much practice, I found it the easiest thing in the world to arrange my own wedding," she said in an interview. "I advise a course in 'bridesmaid' for every girl who wants her wedding to go without a hitch!"

This Revolutionary Pen... Filled Only Once WROTE THIS 12,000-WORD BOOK

...wrote
17 letters besides!

Due to such amazing performances as this, people all over the world are now casting aside their previous pens and carrying this marvelous new writing invention!

ROLAND MARTINI, the author, filled his Parker Vacumatic, and with it wrote "The Marble Staircase," a 12,000-word story soon to appear. In addition, he wrote 17 letters before the pen became empty. Don't think that Mr. Martini's pen is any different from the Parker Vacumatic that you can obtain at any good department store, druggist, jeweler, or stationer. It is not. He received his pen last Christmas from some thoughtful person who went out and got this new creation, just as you can do today.

But be careful not to confuse this sacred marvel with ordinary pens containing rubber ink sacs, or with so-called vacuum filler pens having squirt-gun piston pumps and valves. The Parker Vacumatic eliminates 14 such old-time parts—hence is guaranteed mechanically perfect! It's like a pen from another world—does what no previous pen can do.

It holds 100% more ink than a rubber sac pen without increase in size. It's the only transparent pen that doesn't look transparent—has all the ultra-smart style and luminous beauty of laminated Pearl and Jet, yet when held to the light the column of ink inside becomes visible—shows when to refill—ends running dry!

Stop at the nearest pen counter—try writing two ways with this one Point—a custom-made point of Platinum, Gold and Iridium—it cannot scratch or drag, even under big pressure.

See what it means to have a pen that gives your writing and learning an utterly new "pick-up." The Parker Fountain Pen Company, Limited, Toronto.

KIWANIS TOLD ABOUT EUROPE

Dr. W. Russell Main Speaker at Luncheon; Central Bank Explained

"As far as it was possible, for me to judge from an eight-day visit, I found conditions in Germany vastly different from what they are represented to be. My opinion of Adolf Hitler has been considerably tempered since my visit," said Dr. W. Russell, in describing his recent trip to Europe to the Kiwanis at their luncheon yesterday.

Dr. Russell gave a brief account of his trip through New York and across the Atlantic to the Aquitania, and described what he saw in France, Switzerland, a corner of Austria, and Germany.

In the course of his trip Dr. Russell visited Paris, the United States section of the battlefields, the city of Lucerne, Oberammergau during the Passion Play, Munich and Berlin. On his way home he passed through London and his native city of Glasgow.

"Dr. Russell traveled with a party, and advised this means of travel as the most simple for any of his listeners who might think of making similar trips."

The objects and methods of the Central Bank which operates in Canada at the beginning of next year were outlined by D. McMillan, manager of the local branch of the Dominion Bank, in a five-minute address at the luncheon.

He described the methods of manipulation of the re-discount rate and the buying and selling of Dominion bonds through which the Central Bank could control the interest rate of the Dominion, and also the methods to be employed to control the exchange value of Canadian currency and to regulate internal price fluctuations.

Greetings from the New Westminster Kiwanis Club, and also an invitation to the Victoria club to visit them, were extended to the meeting by Frank McLeod.

Plans for the staging by Kiwanis of a variety show some time at the end of January were briefly outlined, and the support of members for the Friendly Help Welfare drive was asked.

Members of Victoria's City Council will attend the special Armistice Service in Christ Church Cathedral, Sunday, November 11, at 3 o'clock, it was decided yesterday evening following the reading of an invitation from the Dean and wardens of the cathedral.

Association Recommends Victoria Be Featured As Terminus of Road

Victoria will be featured as the terminus of the Oregon State Highway No. 101 on maps issued by the Oregon State Highway Board if recommendations made by the Oregon State Highway Association at Portland, Saturday, are adopted, George I. Warren, Victoria and Island Publicity Commissioner, reported yesterday.

Mr. Warren attended the meeting of the association in Portland and gave a talk and showed pictures of Victoria at the convention banquet. The highway has been extended 399 miles from the California boundary to the Columbia River at Astoria, and has been hard-surfaced. Seventeen million has already been spent in construction and $8,000,000 is now being spent in building five bridges, which will be completed next year. The board expects to spend another $10,000,000 in the next five years to complete the most scenic route in North America.

Following Mr. Warren's talk the resolution recommending Victoria be placed on maps as the terminus of the highway was passed unanimously. Three hundred thousand maps have already been issued by the bureau featuring Victoria as the terminus.

"The benefit of the whole Pacific Northwest working together for tourist business was realized," Mr. Warren said. "It was generally emphasized how Victoria's efforts in attracting tourists to Vancouver Island helped travel through California and Oregon, and there was a readiness to reciprocate."

Market Notes

A carload of apples arrived yesterday. This shipment, which was from the Okanagan, consisted of McIntosh, Red, Winter, Bananas, and extra fancy Delicious. This was the first lot of Winter-Banana apples which has reached the local market.

The orange market is still advancing, while the price for lemons continues firm.

Wholesalers report that Florida grapefruit has dropped in price, but there is still a shortage of smaller grapefruit.

The price for Okanagan Jonathan apples is lower. This is one of the cheapest and best apples on the market, and is now retailing at from six to seven pounds for 25 cents.

A large shipment of Ashcroft tomatoes arrived in the city on Saturday. These tomatoes are selling in the local stores at from 3 to 5 cents a pound.

The price of bushhouse tomatoes has fallen on account of the dump duty lifted last week.

Potatoes are still one of the cheapest items in the food line. Retailers are selling them at from 69 cents to $1.45 for one hundred pounds.

The first shipment of Smyrna figs arrived in Victoria on Saturday, and is considered of good quality. The table varieties are retailing at between 20 and 30 cents a pound, while cooking figs are a good deal cheaper, selling at 8 and 9 cents a pound.

A car of Okanagan onions was unloaded in the city yesterday.

Local grown cauliflower is more plentiful now and the price is lower. Quantities of Vancouver Island celery and lettuce are also reported on wholesale row, while there is no sign of a shortage of root vegetables.

SHOOT BEAR NEAR SOOKE

Fearon Woodburn, of the city detective department, took time off from police investigation over the week-end to do a little sloughing after deer. He failed to get one, explaining deer were pretty scarce around the lower island these days, but he came back with a black bear, which he dropped on the side of a mountain in the Sooke River area.

He went out with W. A. Humberstone, and while looking for deer they came across the small bear, weighing about 100 pounds. Humberstone took a shot at it, wounding it. It started down the mountain side towards Woodburn, who let him have it with a shot in the stomach. Soon a new bear rug will adorn the Woodburn home.

Hear Report on Missions Work

Rev. Canon S. H. Gould, M.D., D.C.L., of Toronto, general secretary of the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada, yesterday evening gave a review of the society's work before a meeting in the Memorial Hall. Dean Quinlan presided and Bishop Schiefelbusch gave a short introductory address. After sketching the society's financial position, Canon Gould described many of the hardships of the home missions and told of the field work in Japan, China and India.

Capt. F. R. Wright, president of the United Church Laymen's Association of British Columbia, who recently returned from the General Council Conference, held at Kingston, Ont., addressed the OBYCA Club yesterday evening in the club parlors, Oak Bay. His topic was, "The Chicago Fair." Cooke will render several musical monologues. The meeting will be open to all.

TIDAL WAVE FOR PENSIONS

Support Rolling Up For Old Age Payments in U.S. Staggering to Leaders

By WILLIS THORNTON

Washington, Oct. 24.—The tidal wave of publically eager support for old age pension plans that is sweeping across the country threatens to complicate Congress' problem in adopting such programs this winter.

Congressional leaders are worried, because they feel that hopes are being aroused which the country, with the best will in the world, can not fulfill. And the actual proposals which will be the administration programme this winter are not yet formulated.

The special presidential Committee on Economic Security, which is to report by December 1 on old age, unemployment, health, and similar protective laws, will have some preliminary reports soon.

It can not be too soon for certain congressional leaders, who watch a little ahead of the public, and proposals of certain unofficial leaders of pension movements and the support that is rolling up behind them.

The cabinet committee, consisting of the Secretaries of Labor, Treasury, and Agriculture, the Attorney General, and FERA Administrator Harry Hopkins, has met once, and a special subcommittee of nineteen "brain trusters pro tem" has met at least once to assist them.

Congressional leaders hope preliminary reports will indicate about what can be expected.

Representative David J. Lewis of Maryland, who has been active in old age pension legislation, has warned elderly people to look before they leap into pension associations which make extravagant promises and raise high hopes.

He cites one association which advocates a federal pension of $200 a month to everyone over sixty, the money to be raised by a 10 per cent retail sales tax.

That is $2,000,000,000 a month in pensions, Lewis points out, or $24,000,000,000 a year, when the entire income of all United States people last year was less than $40,000,000,000.

That would mean payment to less than 10 per cent of all the people (that is, to those over sixty) more than half the entire national income.

Lewis does not consider this either possible or desirable, and he is afraid that old people who pay money to such associations are apt not only to be bitterly disappointed, but to prejudice the cause of really workable old age pensions.

Virtual certainty of some old age pension legislation is well indicated by the fact that ten years ago men like the Socialists Meyer London and Victor Berger were supporting it.

But in 1925 it was the conservative Hamilton Fish who began to be interested in it. Now it has the definite presidential stamp of approval, and only the questions of explains

—prominent director of
Fleischmann Health Research

... speeds Digestive Juices, strengthens "Insides"—important tests show!

IN 25 leading clinics all over the medical world, the new "XR" Yeast has been thoroughly tested on literally hundreds of stubborn cases. Doctors report: "Never before such results from yeast!" "Remarkable!" "Patients often reported that they felt better in one to two days."

The reason is: Hormone-like substances abundant in this new Fleischmann's "XR" Yeast stimulate your vital digestive juices and the muscular action of your entire digestive tract as nothing else can!

DR. R. E. LEE, prominent director of Fleischmann Health Research, explains the new "XR" Yeast as effective due to action on digestive juices.

Corrects constipation, indigestion and related conditions faster. Rich in hormone-like substances. (Newly added Vitamin "A" helps combat colds, too!)

HAVE YOU TRIED IT? Everybody is talking about the new "XR" Yeast. From hundreds of questions, Dr. Lee answers these:—

1. Just what is "XR" Yeast? It's a new, stronger "strain" of fresh yeast—a new variety—discovered by a famous bacteriologist in a great medical college. It acts more vigorously... faster!

2. Why is it important to Health? A majority of common health troubles come from a slowing up of your digestive juices... and digestive action.

"XR" Yeast, through its richness in hormone-like substances (natural body "activators") stimulates these juices to flow faster and strengthens the digestive muscles from the stomach on down.

Your food is thus better "churned"—digested—moved through your body faster. Indigestion, that "stuffed" feeling after meals—and constipation—soon go!

3. Does it contain any Drugs? No! It's a food. Entirely unlike harsh cathartics which act often by irritation! New "XR" Yeast "normalizes" you... corrects constipation, etc., naturally.

4. Does the Skin clear quicker? Yes! By clearing you out "inside" "XR" Yeast purifies your blood. Actually, your skin gains "tone," becomes healthier. Pimples, boils and related disorders of the skin disappear sooner.

5. How about frequent Headaches? Poisons absorbed from the intestines, or (as some doctors hold) constipation pressure on abdominal nerves, cause many headaches. "XR" Yeast clears up the underlying condition. Headaches often cease.

6. Do Colds occur less frequently? "XR" Yeast combats colds by cleansing the system—and by supplying newly added Vitamin A, the "infection-preventing" vitamin! Each cake is also rich in Vitamins B, D, G—four vitamins!

START TO EAT IT NOW! ... 2 cakes a day—plain or dissolved in one-third glass of water—preferably half an hour before meals. If you're taking cathartics, discontinue them gradually. Eat Fleischmann's "XR" Yeast regularly and after you've got quick results... until you're thoroughly well! Buy 6 cakes (for the first 3 days) and start now.

"Acts quicker!" says Mrs. Kinneer

"It is more efficacious," writes Mrs. Mabel Kinneer. "Several years ago my doctor prescribed yeast to regulate me... my improvement was remarkable. Lately, I felt sluggish and nervous again. I ate the new 'XR' Yeast... now I feel wonderful. It acts quickly. I'm telling my friends."

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, the most reliable healing agent for severe coughs. It is guaranteed to please you, or money refunded.

Radio And Musical Festivals Criticized

John Goss Tells Canadian Club Women How These Are Hampering Musical Appreciation; Says Canada Fitted to Play Big Part in Resuscitation of Music

Criticism of the radio as "the most pernicious instrument ever invented," and of competitive musical festivals, which fall in their avowed purpose because they are not conducted along the lines of musical appreciation, was voiced by John Goss, British baritone, in an interesting address before the Women's Canadian Club yesterday afternoon.

CULTURE NOT FOR MEN

In an address at times pungent with biting satire, Mr. Goss spoke of "The Necessity of Music," basing his conclusions largely upon his observations while in Canada some years ago. During his sojourn he found that while Canada possessed a wealth of musical talent and a high amateur tradition, it shared with Great Britain and the United States a general belief that the cultural life belonged to the women and was not for men.

Among the heritages brought to Canada by Old Country people was a modesty about the talents of its own nationals, also the theory which had grown up that the British had been so busy making money and consolidating an empire, that little time could be devoted to the encouragement of the arts. The world being "only too ready to take us at our own valuation," that belief had spread, and to-day British artists found that their chances of success were slim, except when they adopted a mild European name, grew long hair and assumed a slightly Belgian accent.

Canadian audiences also demanded the glamour of a foreign name, he continued, and quoted the case of a Canadian soprano—"one of the finest in her line"—and admitted as such by a noted impresario, who yet would not include her on his programmes because his audiences refused to recognize native talent. Mr. Goss expressed the opinion that had Edward Johnson and Mary Pickford confined their careers to the country of their birth, they would have been considered "very small beer, indeed."

HERITAGE OF PIONEER DAYS

The United States exercised a similar influence on the cultural life of Canada. There its people tenaciously held to the idea that the arts are not primarily the concern of the male sex and that music is not worth the serious concern of "go-getting men."

Such an attitude might be a heritage from pioneer days when man was too busy struggling against the forces of nature and fighting the Indians to pay much attention to culture, suggested the speaker. The modern expression of that attitude was that man's task in life was to succeed along economic lines. Its corollary being that artistic matters should be left to the women.

To-day in the United States and Canada there was a larger number of women than anywhere else in the world, with the result that any support of music and the other arts was left to them. Mr. Goss deplored this attitude, because, in his opinion, it encouraged a tendency to regard art from the purely domestic viewpoint, making the utterance of musical genius a branch of higher housekeeping.

AN ESSENTIAL AS VITAMINS

Declaring that music is as essential to the mind as vitamins are to the body, and a defence against the maladies of the soul, the speaker urged the development of a true and more sensitive appreciation of music. Musical consciousness is not created merely by the turning of a knob, he continued, nor is it created by musical "festivals." "Unless competitive musical struggles run along the lines of organized encouragement of musical appreciation, the desire to hear the best music at first hand, they are utterly useless," he declared, recalling "downs in England where intensive festivals were held over several days, then for the rest of the year not a single effort made to foster musical appreciation in the way of concerts or recitals."

RADIO "PESTIFEROUS"

The radio was also scathingly criticized. "As a cultural instrument it is the most pestiferous instrument ever invented," he declared. So much is said over the ether, both good and bad, that the radio listener becomes "like an inattentive gastronome, knowing not whether he is eating caviar or kippers." To switch on the radio as an accompaniment to the domestic chores is not an art; in fact it amounts to the desertion of an art, he continued.

Averting that only by the rehabilitation of the concert hall could this stimulating of good taste for music be avoided, Mr. Goss concluded with an earnest appeal for the restoration of the public concert which had given music its social significance, and for a renascence of national pride in or local patriotism towards its own music and musicians.

He cited as instances of the latter, the Philadelphia and Boston Symphony Orchestras and the Toronto choir, which had brought world fame to their respective cities, commoting the highest cultural tradition.

Fortified by the great British amateur tradition which it has inherited and by its proximity to the United States, to which country the great artists of the world gravitate, Canada has that in its blood which makes it the best place to supply the transatlantic necessity for the resuscitation of the best in music, he concluded.

Mrs. Alfred Carmichael presided. She supplemented his address with several songs, delightfully sung, including two old English and a Scotch number, all supported at the piano by Mrs. C. C. Wain.

Atheist Annoyed, Seized as Clergyman

New York, Oct. 24.—Ministers, and especially revivalists, are almost constantly breaking the New York law which makes it a crime to "attempt to induce a person to adopt or practice a religious belief."

Since the law obviously does not apply to attempts to induce persons to abandon their religious beliefs, it has not been invoked against Mr. Charles Smith, president of the Society for the Advancement of Atheism. But it was possible to arrest him under an old ordinance which forbids clergymen from speaking in public without special police permit.

It can be imagined how it annoyed Smith—the only man in town whose profession is atheism—to be classed as a clergyman. Police, though, stoutly maintained that religious talk, either pro or con, was preaching. Smith was convicted, but carried his case to the State Court of Appeals, where the decision was reversed. It was a hollow victory, though, because the Board of Aldermen then changed the ordinance to include atheists.

184-POUND TUMOR TO BE REMOVED

Canadian Press
Dallas, Tex., Oct. 24.—Surgeons to-day will start an operation to remove a 184-pound tumor from the abdomen of Sophie Johnson. They said the tumor weighed at least ten pounds more than any which they had been able to find on record. The operation will require several days, said Dr. L. H. Leberman, surgeon, as sudden removal would prove fatal. The woman weighs 354 pounds.

CARE NEEDED AFTER THE WAVE

By ALICIA HART
How to care for the new fall permanents is a problem that seems to bother most beauty-minded women these days. Though modern permanent waves are a vast improvement on the old types, every girl who gets one realizes that her hair needs special care afterward.

In the first place, a permanent tends to dry out the hair. This is very well if you happen to have a surplus of oil. However, if your hair is normally dry, you simply have to do something to counteract the drying effects of the wave.

Hot oil shampoos are the answer. As a matter of fact, they are, answer to the majority of scalp and hair troubles. If you wash your own hair, simply massage warm olive oil into the scalp the night before you plan to shampoo. Put some on the dry ends, too. Wrap a clean towel around your head and leave the oil on all night and shampoo the next morning.

USE LIQUID SHAMPOO
Use a liquid shampoo. There are two commercial ones on the market to-day. However, if you prefer to make your own, use small pieces of bland (preferably castile) soap from a bathroom, put them in a jar with a little warm water and leave until the soap is dissolved.

If you have trouble combining your hair after a shampoo, try a vinegar rinse. It will take out the tangles and leave the hair soft and shiny. Put one cupful of vinegar in a quart of lukewarm water and, after you've washed and rinsed at least twice, pour the vinegar and water over your head. Then rinse again, using plain water to remove every trace of the vinegar.

BRUSH ONLY WHEN DRY
Don't brush a permanently-waved head while the hair is still wet. Use a fairly coarse-toothed comb to break the tangles, and get the hair ready for the setting. You can not wave yourself, you know, but it takes time and practice. You will find that the new quick-setting wave lotions infinitely helpful. Decide where the first wave should go, and then when you have it in place, comb down the rest of the hair, and comb downward to the new wave. Continue until the entire head is waved.

You probably won't want to brush your hair until your weekly hair wave is at least two days old. That leaves five nights a week for brushing. Get a good brush with flexible bristles of uneven length and learn to use it correctly. It should be placed flat against the scalp with each stroke and then pulled upward to the very ends of the hair.

WALDORF'S OSCAR RECALLS 90'S
Memories of Gay Days of Lavish Entertaining Bring Sighs to Famous Host

New York, Oct. 24.—The anniversary recently of four decades of the original Waldorf-Astoria found Oscar, its host, in "happy, healthy and contented" mood in his new surroundings at the Waldorf-Astoria of today.

"I must say that those years, looking back, went off very, very lively and it is a pleasure to me to think that I am still host, so-called, of the new Waldorf-Astoria," he said. "There is no difference between the old and the new, except we are in a new world in fact the finest hotel in the world."

In the nineties, the days which brought back the tenderest of memories to Oscar, there was a suite with the crystal chandelier, the clear, green turtle soup, champagne with the terrapin, burgundy with the canebark duck and liqueur with the coffee, he said.

BEACH-STYLE SPREADS
Mainbocher's market-boy silhouette, which started in beach pyjamas last summer and went on into two-piece frocks, becomes more important as fall fashions get under way. Mr. Oscar is a very plain eater and eats very little dessert.

Oscar was asked about the women of forty years ago and those of to-day. He was asked to discuss them. He recalled, in answer to a question, that women only started smoking in hotel dining rooms in 1916. He said he himself started smoking only about ten months ago. His enforced idleness during the construction of the new Waldorf made him nervous and he followed the advice of a specialist to smoke a pipe.

MOST SPLENDID AFFAIRS
The greatest dinner in the old hotel in Oscar's memory was the Bradley Martin costume ball on February 10, 1897, but the most costly dinner was that in honor of Randolph Guggenheimer in February, 1899. With forty guests at $250 each, including favors, the dinner cost $10,000. Greenery was planted to create a garden and nightingales sang in rose trees. The vintage was of French pre-Revolutionary days.

"My wish," Oscar said, "some day is to retire to my farm. But I am not going to settle down and do nothing. I have plenty of work to do. I don't expect to write my memoirs. People have asked me to but nothing doing."

Augustus Hunn, treasurer of the hotel company, said the new hotel had had an operating profit ever since it opened and that this had enabled the hotel to pay its taxes. In excess of $600,000, and "some of the rent," which at present is $600,000 a year. He recalled that liquor sales at the old hotel in pre-profit days brought in a revenue of "several hundred thousand a year."

Mr. Nulle said there were 1,450 persons on the hotel's payroll.

CANDIED APPLES
Baked apples, cooked with a syrup made from those old-fashioned red cinnamon candies that you eat when you were seven. Peel the apples and place them in a baking dish. Roll red cinnamon candies with water until they form a rather thick syrup and pour it over the apples. Bake in the usual way, basting frequently.

While denials that Frank J. Gould has squandered a single cent of his huge fortune in his French casino ventures were being issued, his wife, the former Florence La Gasse of San Francisco, landed in New York to "buy American silk stockings" and to furnish a new home at Ardsley on Hudson—their first American home in twenty years.

JAPANESE ENGAGEMENT

The betrothal was announced in Tokyo of Ichiro Matsudaira, son and heir of Tameo Matsudaira, Japanese Ambassador in London, to Miss Toyo Tokugawa (above), daughter of Iyemasa Tokugawa, Japanese Minister to Canada, and granddaughter of Prince Iwano Tokugawa, head of the historic Shogunate family, and former head of the House of Peers. The marriage is expected to take place in Tokyo next spring when, it is hoped, the parents of both of the engaged couple will be able to be present.

THRIFTY MEALS DEMONSTRATED

Jane Taylor Allen's Class at Spencer's Draws Crowds
New Methods of Pie-Making Shown This Morning

The test of a good cook would seem to be, not only the excellence of those toothsome dainties she makes but the fact that she is always eager and willing to learn of all the newest and most modern ideas pertaining to her art. If this be so, then Victoria is full of good cooks, for yesterday at the first session of the five-day cooking school being held at David Spencer Ltd. under the leadership of Jane Taylor Allen, cooking expert from General Foods Ltd., Toronto, the seating capacity was crowded to its utmost and many women were willing to stand rather than miss one word of Miss Allen's lecture.

THRIFTY WAY
The lecture yesterday was on "Meals—The Thrifty Way," and if there is a lecture of more interest at this time it would be hard to find. Miss Allen, in her own inimitable way, told the assembled throng of many simple little dishes, so easy to make, and, to use her own words, "so inexpensive, when the budget is low and it is hard to think of tasty and wholesome dishes to fill hungry little stomachs."

A series of meals were suggested and many of the special dishes made right before the audience. At the end of the afternoon Miss Allen presented three lucky women with a meat loaf, a chocolate cream pudding and a pot of apricot jam, all made before them in the lecture.

Her suggested meals were:
THREE BREAKFASTS
Orange juice, Post's branflakes, toast, apricot jam, coffee.
Grape-nuts with cream, stewed prunes, cran muffins, coffee, milk.
Post toasties with sliced bananas, grilled bacon, peach jam, toast, Postum made with milk.

THREE LUNCHEONS
Toasted sandwich (Nippy cheese), snow pudding, custard sauce, milk.
Corn soup, carrot, cabbage and peanut salad, chocolate milk shake.
Layered cheese and apple salad, brown toast, chocolate bread pudding, milk.

THREE DINNERS
Shepherd's pie, spinach, lettuce salad, one egg cake with coconut frosting.
Macaroni and cheese, string beans, Harvard beets, lime mint whip, coffee.
Ham loaf, baked potatoes, scalloped tomatoes, buttered carrots, apple sauce, cookies, coffee.

HAM LOAF
The ham loaf presented in the third dinner arrangement was made by Miss Allen during the afternoon, as well as a number of other wholesome dishes. The recipe is as follows:
One lb. lean pork, ground; 1 lb. smoked ham, or if you prefer, cottage cheese, ground; 1 cup minced onion; 1 tablespoon minced onion; 1/4 teaspoon pepper; 1/4 teaspoon paprika; 2 cups milk; 1 teaspoon Worcester sauce. Mix together, mold in pans and bake in hot oven for 15 minutes, about 450 degrees. Then for 30 minutes more reduce heat to from 375 to 400 degrees. Cook the loaf 45 minutes in all.

Keen interest was shown by the spectators in every phase of the lecture. Afterwards Miss Allen was the centre of a large group of women all anxious to question her about different dishes she had just made. Her ringing voice and pleasant laugh greeted all inquiries as she answered everyone in their turn.

This morning at 10 o'clock the second lecture was held. "A New Version of an Old Art," pie making. Five or six different kinds of pies were made, and Miss Allen gave the assembled women a number of new and modern hints that should help to take the uncertainty of making good pastry out of every housewife's mind.

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

By MARY E. DAGUE
The cleverest mother I know has worked out a fine plan to get enough nourishment and vitamins into her youngest child who is one of those reluctant eaters that cause parents so much worry. What she does is serve a carefully-prepared vegetable soup made with meat or chicken stock and different vegetables every day.

Then to add both food element and interest, she accompanies the soup with croutons, those little brown crunchy squares of buttered toast that children love.

There are several ways to make croutons. Some cooks dip the neat cubes of bread in melted butter and brown them in the oven. Others drop the cubes into deep hot fat and fry to a golden brown in sixty seconds.

CHOICE OF BREAD IS IMPORTANT
The bread chosen for croutons is really more important than the method. It should be stale but not too dry and crumbling. A fine, close-grained texture is essential. Cut in cubes about half inch thick, remove crusts and cut each slice into cubes with a sharp knife. The cubes are dried until they are crisp through. After this they may be toasted or fried in deep fat.

Croutons may be properly served in two ways: passed to each person immediately after his soup is placed before him, or if the soup is served by the head of the family at the table, English fashion, he may drop one or two tablespoons of croutons into each plate as he serves it.

Croutons, unlike crackers, are supposed to go into the soup and form a part of it. Consequently they are eaten with the soup from the soup plate and never with the fingers. Toast sticks are what their name implies, sticks of toast. They are thick in the middle and half inch wide and three inches long. It is then toasted in a hot oven and served, unbuttered, like crackers. Each person helps himself and butters his sticks or not as he prefers. Toast sticks are not broken into the soup.

The Clue of The Forgotten Murder

By CARLETON KENDRAKE
Copyright, 1934, NEA Service Inc.

"I think," Griff told him, "we'll continue to forget the police for a little while, until we've done some experimenting of our own. Come on. We're going to see Alice Lorton. In the meantime I want you to telephone your paper to publish the best photograph of Charles Morden you can dig up and ask particularly if any taxicab driver who remembers being hired by the hour by this person will communicate with the paper."

"You see," Griff went on, "that big taxi entry is far more likely to mean that he engaged a cab by the hour for lots of short trips than that he took one long trip. He could have taken a long ride much more expensively and cheaply than in a taxicab. But if he was fighting against time, trying to do something in a hurry, as his reports indicated that he was, and if he had uncovered a red-hot trail he would have rented a cab by the hour. In that way he wouldn't have lost any time while he went from place to place—places that probably were not in districts where he could pick up cabs easily."

Bleeker nodded.

"That," he said, "is logical. We'll see that the morning newspaper carries the photograph and we'll ask anyone who might have any information about Morden to get in touch with The Blade."

Bleeker picked up the telephone.

CHAPTER XVII

Alice Lorton, looking pathetically feminine, helpless and dazed, surveyed the two men from wide, blue eyes.

"The police," she said, "don't seem to pay any attention to it at all. They seem to think that either just decided to move out and go some place else, or that she ran away with a boy friend."

"Week-end," offered Sidney Griff by way of suggestion.

"The girl nodded."

"They were rather crude about it," she said.

"They would be," Griff told her sympathetically.

Alice Lorton raised her eyes to Bleeker.

"Your paper, Mr. Bleeker," she said, "has been perfectly splendid. They've gone to no end of trouble to find out about it."

"How much of her stuff did she take when she left?" Griff asked.

"Just some of her clothes and personal belongings. I would say not more than one suitcase full, at the most."

"Looks as though she might have gone by plane," Griff suggested, "taking only that amount of baggage."

Alice Lorton's face lit up.

"That might be a clue," she said, "but who would have made her go by plane? Somebody must have forced her to leave."

"Have you any idea what sort of an outfit she was wearing when she left?"

"Yes, I think she was wearing her black dress with the red trimming. She was wearing black shoes and stockings and she had a little black hat—one of the close-fitting kind that pull down over one side of the head. It was trimmed with white."

"She's about twenty-two?"

"I think exactly twenty-two," Alice Lorton said. "I know her. I know she had a birthday, and I think it was her twenty-second. It may have been her twenty-third, but I think she was twenty-two."

"And she's a brunette?"

"Yes. She has black eyes and black hair. She has a windblown bob."

"How tall is she?"

"She is just about my build. We could wear each other's clothes. In fact, she let me wear her clothes lots of the time."

"She had plenty?" asked Griff.

"She had a lot more than I did."

Alice Lorton waved her arm in an inclusive gesture. "Nearly all of this stuff is hers—the books, many of the clothes, nearly all the little nick-nacks. I didn't have very much. She had quite a few things."

Sidney Griff crossed to the bookcase, picked out several of the books, looked at the names on the fly leaves.

"Is this her signature?" he asked.

Alice Lorton came and looked over his shoulder.

"Yes," she said, "that's it."

Griff glanced meaningfully at Bleeker.

"I think," he said, "when they travel by plane they're required to sign a duplicate ticket that has certain clauses in it concerning limitations of liability, the right to ground planes under adverse weather conditions, the excess rate on baggage, and things of that sort. By checking up the signatures on the outgoing planes, we might find out if she took passage under an assumed name, and we've got a pretty fair description of her clothes."

Bleeker pulled out a notebook and made a notation.

"How much," asked Griff abruptly, "were you paying for the apartment?"

"I don't know," she said slowly, "how much Esther was paying for it. Esther was the one who had the deal with the landlord. She paid him. I paid her what she said my share amounted to."

"How much did she say your share amounted to?"

"Twenty dollars a month," Alice Lorton said in a low voice.

"Griff looked at the apartment. 'You didn't get this apartment for any $40 a month,' he told her."

"I know it," she said. "That is, I suspected it, but Esther always told me it was none of my business; that she made the business arrangements and if she could get the apartment cheap I didn't have to worry about it."

"You mean she knew the landlord personally?"

"That is, that is, there was some reason the landlord made her a reduced rate?"

"Oh, no," Alice Lorton said hastily. "I don't think there was anything like that. I don't think she even knew the landlord."

"You paid her the $20 every month?"

"Yes. Once or twice I had to skip a month, but Esther carried me. She seems to have plenty of money."

"You don't know what she was doing?"

"No, she said she was looking for employment."

"Who's the landlord?"

"The Lippman Realty Company have charge of the apartments. There isn't a manager. I remember hearing Esther say that she made cheques to the Lippman Realty Company."

"Do you mind," asked Sidney Griff, "if I look around?"

"Oh, no," she said anxiously. "I want you to know, I can't help but feel something awful has happened to Esther. I feel that she went away, but she went away because of some cloud, some horrible misunderstanding. Perhaps she was forced to accompany someone."

"Of course," said Griff. "She had one or two. I don't know their names. That was one of her friends. Whenever she had a boy friend coming to the apartment to see me, I would tell Esther and she'd leave the apartment. Whenever she had a young man coming to see her, I'd leave. That was one of the arrangements that Esther insisted on. She said that she'd had roommates before, and that they'd always tried to steal her men, and had accused her of trying to steal theirs."

Griff nodded and stood for a moment with his eyes closed, his right hand stretched out in front of him, the fingers moving in that peculiar groping, stroking motion.

"I see," he said at length.

He walked about the apartment, which consisted of a sitting-room, a bedroom and a bath.

"One of you girls slept in the wall bed in the sitting-room?" he asked.

"Met of the time," Alice Lorton said. "We slept together."

"Then you shared this dresser?"

"Griff looked the place over thoroughly."

"You think she took a photograph album?"

"Yes, I think so. I know she had one and now I can't find it."

"You've looked?"

"Yes, of course. The newspaper wanted a picture. Even the police asked for that, although they seemed kind—mean about her leaving."

"Her mail came here to the apartment?" Griff asked.

"Oh, yes."

"You're certain of that?"

"Of course. This is where she lives. Why wouldn't her mail come here?"

"I'm asking you if you're certain," Griff said.

"Why, yes. I've brought her up mail quite a few times when I've been coming in and have looked in the mail box."

"Any idea who her mail came from?"

Show Met With Orient Success

To one who has an idea that operating a big musical show in the Far East with a couple of score attractive and youthful young women in a company of sixty, is a merry task, let him consult A. B. Marcus, whose Marcus show recently returned from the Orient and will offer "World O' Girls" at the Royal Victoria Theatre Wednesday, October 31, for one night only.

"I know how a cowboy feels when he gets mugged up in a cattle stampede," declared Marcus.

The management of a "girl" show in the United States and Canada is often an arduous but not necessarily a difficult task. If a girl does not live up to the rules or drops out only, the matter of some railroad fares and a few rehearsals and all goes on as before.

With the base of supplies five to nine thousand miles and two to four weeks away, it is quite a different matter. Even if Cupid gets in his deadly work the showmen cannot wire to Hollywood or New York or Chicago and have a fair success on the job in the next day or so. Marcus prides himself on the record. Only one girl of those who left San Francisco failed to return. She married a financier in Shanghai.

"Cellophane Girls" Elaborate Revue

"The most elaborate stage show to come out of the east this season," said the theatrical critic of The Seattle Times two weeks ago, in speaking of the revue, "Girls in Cellophane," which will open its Victoria engagement at the Empire Theatre on Friday and will show here three days.

Billy Wade, who is traveling with this company, is said to be Joe Penner's only rival on the American stage. Assisted by Miss Lou Beverley, Wade presents a fast line of comedy—clean and clever. An outstanding feature of the show is a brilliant ensemble of girls, wrapped entirely in sparkling cellophane.

THE SCREEN

Romano to Show "Blonde Bombshell"

Jean Harlow and Lee Tracy are featured in "The Blonde Bombshell," a really smart picture which will open at the Romano Theatre to-morrow.

The added attraction will be a Charlie Chase comedy and the fifth chapter of the thrilling serial, "Burn 'Em Up Barnes."

DOMINION THEATRE

Packed with romance, intrigue and suspense, one of the timeliest stories of the year is on the screen of the Dominion in Universal's "Million Dollar Ransom," written by Damon Runyon, one of America's greatest sports writers and one of the most eminently successful screen authors.

The story goes back behind the scenes of a colorful New York night club and reveals the machinations of a group of former liquor barons who are compelled to find new fields of lucre. It is an amazing tale, told deftly and with all the consummate humor that characterizes only Damon Runyon's work.

Featured in the cast are Phillips Holmes, Edward Arnold, Mary Carlisle, Andy Devine, Winnie Shaw, Marjorie Gateson and many favorite screen players.

CAPITOL THEATRE

One of the funniest of the many laugh-laden scenes in "The Last Gentleman," George Arliss's new 20th Century comedy showing to-day at the Capitol Theatre, occurs during one of all things, a memorial service strange old fellow holds for a party who may, or may not be dead!

The minister chances to have a cold in the head which affects his voice in a highly comical manner and turns the solemn occasion into a laugh riot.

ECONOMIC LEVEL IS MAINTAINED

Trade Index for September Has Slight Drop, Due to Five Sundays in Month

Ottawa, Oct. 24.—Economic conditions in Canada were maintained during September at the approximate level of the preceding month, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports. The wholesale price index recedes from 72.3 to 72.

Stability characterized the commodity price level during the first nine months of the year, the official index on the 1926 base fluctuating near the 72 per cent line during the greater part of the period. Observing the occurrence of five Sundays in September, the slight change from the preceding month is regarded as an excellent showing.

The weekly index of high-grade bond prices dropped from 126.3 to 125.5. The common stock prices index was 92.1 compared with 91.7. The gains were nearly general in the sub-indexes for the industrial division, the bureau says.

NEW YORK LOANS

Washington, Oct. 24 (Associated Press)—Loans on securities to brokers and dealers held by weekly reporting member banks in New York City amounted to $759,000,000 for the week ended October 17, representing an increase of $35,000,000 for the week.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

Instead of blistered feet, which they usually suffer, fifty Fox Film dancing girls bewildered the studio doctor with complaints of blistered hands.

The girls, working in elaborate revue scenes of "Stand Up and Cheer" were required to spin cowboy lariat mosey of the day—hence the sore hands.

Will Rogers himself taught the dancers how to twist the rawhide ropes, but the celebrated actor-writer forgot to stress the need for gloves.

"Stand Up and Cheer" is now at the Playhouse Theatre.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians are accorded the unique honor of top billing in their first motion picture, Paramount's "Many Happy Returns," which is now at the Columbia Theatre. In this picture, directed by Norman McLeod, they share top honors with George Burns and Gracie Allen. Three songs by Sam Coslow and Arthur Johnston are featured by the band in the picture. "Face Thee Well," "The Sweetest This Side of Heaven" and "The Boogie Man."

NEWS IN BRIEF
Ward Six, C.C.F., will meet to-morrow evening at 8.15 o'clock at 724, Fort Street.

A small blaze in the flooring of the Marine Iron Works Ltd., 515 Pender Street, was attended by the fire department yesterday. There was little damage from the blaze.

Thanks of the Four Bay Community Association to the City Council for its support in having the names of Four Bay and Four Point changed was contained in a letter from the association received at the City Hall to-day.

Appreciation of the courtesy extended to its representative, who motored around Vancouver Island to get information for an article in the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau is expressed in a note in the San Francisco Chronicle.

In order not to conflict with the meeting to be held in the Memorial Hall in Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of the local branch of the League of Nations, the regular meeting of the Cathedral Men's Guild has been cancelled.

Trustee Walter P. Jeanes, chairman of the Saanich School Board, will address a meeting of the Two Non-political Ratepayers' Association in Cloverdale School this evening. Mr. Jeanes will discuss recent developments on the high school question.

The Y.M.C.A. Quad Club held its first meeting of the season yesterday evening. Frank Paulding delivered a brief address on the use of leisure time. The club will hold a supper meeting next Tuesday evening at 6.15 o'clock, at which the induction of new members will take place.

A joint meeting of the three city Odd Fellow lodges will be held on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Important matters will be discussed and a large number of members are expected. Visiting brothers are cordially invited. Refreshments will be served.

Charged with assaulting Mrs. H. M. Kyle, David Burnett was convicted in the City Police Court this morning and fined $15. The offence arose out of a visit the accused made to the informant's boarding house on Yates Street when he had gone to see his wife and child.

The Chamber of Commerce has been advised that R. R. Macgregor, Australian Trade Commissioner, and his assistant, C. E. Critchley, will be in Victoria on November 5 and 6. The chamber has been asked to help make arrangements for them to show a moving picture "Olympics of Australia."

"I came to Victoria for trout fishing, stayed four months and spent nearly $5,000," invested between $6,000 and $7,000," a San Francisco man has written to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau in response to the questionnaire which has been sent out to secure suggestions and an idea of the benefits of the tourist industry.

To-morrow evening at 8 o'clock the Oxford Group team of seven men and seven women will speak at the City Temple, North Park Street. Each speaker will give a short, personal witness of what the experience has meant to them. A vision of what can be done to help British Columbia and Canada during the present crisis and reconstruction will be related.

Outside employees of the Victoria School Board were reduced from seven to four at the board's meeting yesterday afternoon. The cut in the number was made to effect economy possible in order to assure the board keeping within its estimates for the year. The four men will carry on as much work as they can with the money available on grounds and buildings.

The first annual convention of the Douglas Social Credit group in British Columbia will be held in Vancouver next Saturday. The Victoria representative at the sessions will be Rev. F. W. McKinnon, of Douglas Street Baptist Church, who will speak on "The Way We Have Come." Constitution and by-laws will be presented at the gathering, a report of which will be submitted here by Mr. McKinnon on his return.

James Edward Robinson appeared in the City Police Court this morning charged with obtaining money by false pretences from Earl Johnson, a taxidriver. His election and plea will be heard to-morrow morning after a consultation with the doctor. The accused was arrested by Detective William Stark and Sergeant B. Aere-man, after a taxi ride to Nanaimo, following which the prosecution alleges he paid the informant with a worthless cheque for $100.

Mrs. E. Gass Passes Away in Tacoma

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETIES
CITY TEMPLE
The City Temple Young People's Society held its weekly meeting in the City Temple social hall Tuesday evening. G. Hobden gave an instructive address on the subject, "What is Devotion," which was well received. Following the address and devotional period the balance of the evening was spent in games. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, October 30, when a social evening will be spent.

FIRST UNITED
The meeting of First United Young People's Society was opened with Douglas Smith in the chair. Wm. Findlay introduced C. L. Harrison, who spoke on the "Edible and Poisonous Fungi of Vancouver Island." Mr. Harrison also showed a valuable collection of slides on this subject, a subject that proved to be both interesting and valuable in its information. Beautiful slides of some of the less-known parts of Vancouver Island's mountainous districts concluded Mr. Harrison's talk. A hearty vote of thanks, proposed by Harvard English, was seconded by the gathering. A brief debate followed on the subject, "Resolved that the church should take an aggressive part in the censorship of movies." James Gibson, as judge, gave the decision to the negative side upheld by Margaret Purves and Douglas Smith, against the affirmative side taken by Wm. Cox and Emily Durkin.

CLOTHING IS GREAT NEED

Welfare Societies Distribute Clothing to Value of $20,000 Each Year

The clothing department was taken over last February from the Victoria Citizens' Unemployment Relief. The budget for new clothing alone, particularly boots, stockings and underclothes, for men, women and children, amounts to $20,000 a year. The requests for clothing are now piling up in alarming fashion and unless the citizens' welfare societies respond more heartily to the appeal that is now being made, there are many little children and adults, who will go inadequately clothed through the winter months.

"Get together, citizens of Greater Victoria," it was stated this morning in the Victoria Citizen, "let us not be indifferent to the sufferings of our less fortunate neighbors. Many have responded nobly to the appeal of the campaign committee, in not a few cases denying themselves in order to do so. We have the most beautiful city in Canada. Let us not allow its beauty to be marred by the sight of ill-dressed and undernourished people."

To noon to-day contributions had been received from the following: Previously acknowledged $16,171. Anon. $5, Friend $5, Rev. Dr. S. A. Fraser $25, Mrs. C. H. WEIR TALKS ON EDUCATION
Mount View High School P.-T.A. Has Dr. Weir as Speaker; Prizes Given

At a specially arranged function this afternoon, pupils of Mount View High School who were typing honors in the English department were presented with their trophies and members of the Mount View Parent-Teacher Association heard an address on education given by the superintendent of the experimental station. The 321 birds in the contest laid a total of 67,232 eggs. The average number of eggs laid by each bird was 210.1 and the average points scored were 234.3.

Out of the thirty-three pens which entered the contest 153 birds passed the 200-egg test and will be registered.

Reminiscences of earlier days in Victoria and more modern times in London, blossomed forth from police headquarters this morning as a quartette of the city's staunch defenders marched out into the teeming rain for point duty, clad in full length white rubber raincoats.

Pulled out of the storerooms, where they have rested for several years, the robes were the talk of the station today. The older members of the force recalled the time when they were ten years ago by policemen on point duty directing traffic with white batons.

The fact that they were somewhat antiquated from a point of view of looks did not pass the constables' minds. The collar of the old coats are specially adapted for use with helmets. When they are turned up they fit closely to the neck and prevent rain trickling down the constable's neck. And just ask Claude Belcher if he did not welcome this feature as he patiently stood and turned the stop and go signal at the corner of Yates and Douglas streets during the morning.

HITLER BACKS REICHSBISHOP
Associated Press
Berlin, Oct. 24.—An indication was given to-day that Chancellor Hitler will continue to support Reichsbishop Ludwig Muller in Germany's acrimonious Protestant church rebellion.

Official quarters revealed that bishops appointed by Muller and Dr. August Jager, Nazi colonizer for Protestant church in Prussia, will be sworn in Thursday.

The church quarrel had been saddened by Hitler, with opponents of Muller's vigorous dictatorship in the Nazi-inspired drive for a unified Protestant church demanding the Reichsbishop's removal.

SIDNEY WINNER BEST IN CANADA
J. J. McCurrack of New Westminster Wins Egg-Laying Contest

J. J. McCurrack of 1505 Mary Avenue, New Westminster, beside winning the egg laying contest conducted by the Dominion Experimental Farm at Sidney, also had the highest producing pen in Canada, according to word received from Superintendent E. M. Straight announced to-day.

Mr. McCurrack's pen of ten white leghorns laid a total of 2,512 eggs, aggregating 2,707 points in the official fifty-one weeks of the contest. His pen led in both egg production and points in the competition, and according to word received from Ottawa by Mr. Straight, no other pen has laid more eggs in any laying contest in Canada this year.

The hen which laid the most eggs during the fifty-one week period was the pen entered by W. Bradley, Langford Lake poultry breeder. This bird laid 316 eggs and secured 558.3 points. The best hen last year laid 309 eggs.

Mr. Bradley's also had the pen which came second in the contest. His entries laid 2,443 eggs and scored a total of 2,720.3 points. F. C. Evans was third in the Sidney contest, his birds laying 2,445 eggs for a total of 2,693.4 points.

In the heavy breeds, R. Victor Robinson led with a pen of Light Sussex, which secured 2,389.4 points and laid 2,235 eggs.

Colin F. Jackson of Lynn Creek on the mainland had the best pen among the Rhode Island Reds. His chickens laid 2,017 eggs for a total of 2,318.9 points. Howard D. Reid of Royal Oak was second, with 2,011 eggs and 2,224.4 points, while Mr. A. G. Jackson's pen, also from Royal Oak, came third with 2,008 eggs and 2,196 points.

Eggs which weigh 24 ounces to the dozen score one point, according to Mr. Straight, and for every ounce above or below this grade .01 point is added or subtracted. The minimum number of points for an egg is 0.6 and the maximum 1.2.

Some other interesting facts were revealed by the superintendent of the experimental station. The 321 birds in the contest laid a total of 67,232 eggs. The average number of eggs laid by each bird was 210.1 and the average points scored were 234.3.

Out of the thirty-three pens which entered the contest 153 birds passed the 200-egg test and will be registered.

Full-length White Garments Attract Much Attention as Constables Take to Streets in Pouring Rain

DEAD WARRIOR LAID TO REST
Canadian Press from Havana
Berlin, Oct. 24.—General Alexander von Kluck, who commanded the First German Army in the first battle of the Marne in 1914, was eulogized to-day by several of his war-time comrades during a funeral service at Stahnsdorf.

General Werner von Fritsch, chief of general staff of the Reichswehr, representing Leader-Chancellor Adolf Hitler, extolled the military deeds of the dead warrior.

ED. WYNN IS BEING SUED
Wife's Attendant Claims $115,000 From Comedian; Claim Denied

Associated Press
New York, Oct. 24.—Ed. Wynn, the comedian, is defendant in two suits for $115,000 filed in supreme court here, it was learned yesterday, by Mrs. Ruth Greenberg and her husband, Samuel Greenberg.

Mrs. Greenberg asks $100,000 under an alleged agreement by which she was companion and attendant for Mrs. Hilda Keenan Wynn, wife of the comedian, in 1929 and 1930, and her husband asks $15,000 for expenses incident to his wife's employment.

Wynn has answered the suits, denying liability and saying if there was any agreement it was not binding.

Mrs. Greenberg alleges Mrs. Wynn was addicted to the use of artificial stimulants, made a physical attack on her husband in public and harassed him so much "his career as a humorist was in jeopardy."

Nazis that their leaders are still considering an idea of forming a national "Reichsbischof" embracing all Christian creeds.

HAS UNIQUE WAR RECORD

Capt. C. P. Norton, Here To-day, Fought in Boer, Russian and World Wars

Capt. C. P. Norton, who has farmed on Galiano Island for twenty-seven months and has been prominently identified with the development of that progressive island community, is at the Dominion Hotel to-day with Mrs. Norton on route to Duncan, where they plan to settle in order that their children may enjoy better educational facilities.

He is owner of "The Haven," on Galiano Island, a property of twenty acres, which he purchased from Miller Higgs, formerly of Victoria, who once operated a fox farm there.

Capt. Norton stated to-day that he had taken a year's leave on four acres owned by Mrs. Yvonne Brierley at Duncan, with the option of purchase at the expiration of that time. His two daughters and young son will attend a private school at Duncan.

Since he settled on Galiano Island, Capt. Norton has been president of the Galiano Club and was secretary of the Galiano Island Agricultural Association, which he helped to build up as one of the most progressive agricultural organizations in the southern Vancouver Island area. He also was the founder of the Amigo Club, composed of the young people of Galiano Island.

GREAT LINGUIST
Capt. Norton has a unique record of military service and is a clever linguist, speaking twelve different languages.

He was born in Montreal when his father, who was a governor-general of India, was en route home to England.

He was given a lieutenancy in the 21st London Rifle and went off to fight the Boers in the South African war. Four years later he fought for Russia in Siberia in the Russo-Japanese war.

Retaining his identity with the 21st London Rifle and went off to Canada from England and was part of the World War as captain, and was badly gassed at Ypres, when he held the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

When the call came for more officers he again crossed the channel, reverting to the rank of captain in order to get into action. He held action in the Arras sector from exposure in the front line trenches while directing a machine-gun attack. His recovery at the Boulogne base hospital from paralysis, which rendered his left side useless, was one of the most remarkable hospital cases of the war.

TO CONTINUE WHEAT POLICY
Canadian Press
Ottawa, Oct. 24.—While no official statement on the wheat situation was forthcoming to-day, the view was expressed there would be no change in the government's policy of supporting the market.

John F. McFarland, selling agent for the Wheat Pools, who has been discussing the situation with Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, had nothing to say on the matter to-day. He was unable to state definitely whether or not he would have further conferences with the Prime Minister. He may leave Ottawa either this evening or to-morrow.

The complaint of Canadian millers that pegging of wheat prices has laid them open to competition of flour milled in Great Britain from lower-priced Argentine wheat has been noted here. It would appear from comment on this matter that if the complaint is well founded the remedy to be applied would not be that of dropping wheat prices. It would be rather by adopting some method of shutting out the flour milled from foreign wheat.

VANCOUVER TO HAVE SEED FAIR
Probably Will Be Held With Fat Stock Show on December 10 to 12

The British Columbia Seed Fair will probably be held in Vancouver this year, in conjunction with the Vancouver Fat Stock show, stated Hon. K. C. MacDonald, B.C. Minister of Agriculture, to-day. The Vancouver winter show will take place from December 10 to 12.

Dr. MacDonald would make no definite statement on the location of the seed fair until he was thoroughly satisfied with the arrangements the Vancouver authorities were willing to make. It is generally regarded as fairly definite that the seed show will be held on the mainland.

Last year the seed fair was held in Victoria with great success, and this winter it was planned to hold it in the city in conjunction with the proposed Victoria Winter Fair.

At the Provincial Agricultural Exhibition, held at the Willows in September, the government allowed half its earnings from the tolltakers, at the time the fair was being held, to go to the funds of the British Columbia Agricultural Association. This money, according to Dr. MacDonald, was being used in putting on a winter fair in Victoria.

The Minister of Agriculture believed that a winter fair would help farmers and cattle raisers on Vancouver Island, and throughout the province, for besides an exhibition, the winter fair would also be a stock sale and would come at Christmas time when money was freer.

However, owing to the poor attendance at the Willows Exhibition, the B.C. Agricultural Association have more or less decided that it would be hardly be advantageous to hold a winter fair this year, and as Dr. MacDonald promised the authorities putting on the Vancouver Fat Stock Show that the seed fair would be held there if there was no winter fair in Victoria, it is probable that the seed show will take place on the mainland.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

A GAIN the heavyweight boxing situation is in a mess. Steve Haman's failure to score a decisive victory over Art Laskey, the Minneapolis Marauder (there were a lot of boys who thought Art got the old hokus-pokus on the decision), clearly demonstrates that there is not a challenger worthy to step into the same ring with the Baby Bear.

Laskey, the widely heralded Hebrew who rang up such an impressive string of victories on the Pacific Coast, was expected to mop up on Haman, the colorless plodder from Penn State. That he did not seem to indicate that Art was rather over-rated.

That Steve won surely is no recommendation that he is the next man to meet Bear, although the fight was staged with the understanding that the winner would face the heavyweight champion.

Haman's victory was a weak one. Hammered from pillar to post, and on the verge of a knockout three times, Steve practically won the fight on a foul blow by Laskey, which cost the Minneapolis boy a complete round.

Haman still was groggy when Referee Billy Cavanaugh gave him the decision after the two judges disagreed.

It can be said for the pride of Penn State that he was not the same fighter who whammed Max Schmeling hither and yon some time ago. But it is no credit to him that such a statement can be made.

Haman, with a title fight his for a victory over Laskey, should have been in the best condition of his career. The results show he was not.

If Madison Square Garden still is of a mind to book Laskey as a challenger for Bear's crown, one positive step should be taken—Steve again should be matched with Schmeling.

Haman's reputation was built on his victory over Schmeling. When the German met the Pennsylvania college boy it was a known fact that he was on the way down the ladder.

But since his impressive victory over Walter Neusel, his countryman and likely Bear opponent, in Germany, Der Schlager has been accepted as a fellow gamer struggling on the same level as the champion.

He is well liked in the United States and, should he succeed in defeating Haman, a following bout with Bear probably would follow. That Haman could pull with the Lamming-Lothario.

Of course, there is the likelihood that the garden may rematch Haman and Laskey before anything is done about a Haman-Bear or Haman-Schmeling bout.

Laskey is a youngster with fewer years of campaigning than Steve. It might have been that his eagerness to put Steve away caused him to forget his ring training and tire himself out battling his fists against Haman's gloves and arms.

With the Haman bout under his belt, Art should be a much better fighter in his next battle, and it is the opinion of many that he could take Steve in the end.

WRIGLEY NOW REAL CAESAR

Secures Stock of William Walker and Can Rule Chicago Cubs as He Wishes

Chicago, Oct. 24.—William Murray Walker, who recently told baseball writers there would be some "startling news" in the Chicago Cub lineup next season, found himself to-day to be change number one.

Either by choice, request or both, Walker resigned the presidency of the National Baseball League club yesterday after selling his 1,274 shares of stock to Philip K. Wrigley, who announced he would take over the presidency and run the club along his own ideas.

Wrigley, who did not take much of an interest in baseball until the death of his father, William Wrigley Jr., in January, 1932, said Walker's resignation came without any quarrel or clash, but admitted he may be a bit of a fish business, which made him a wealthy man.

There was considerable speculation to-day over Wrigley's remarks that he planned to install some of his own ideas on running a ball club. He said: "I have some ideas which may be better than those of the present management."

Wrigley said he would like to see the Cubs win the pennant. He said he would like to see the Cubs win the pennant. He said he would like to see the Cubs win the pennant.

Pasadena, Calif., Oct. 24.—An English series of test matches and a long drive for the family was made yesterday by Ellsworth Vines, tennis star. His wife, Verle Louise Vines, gave birth to a second-half-pound girl at a hospital here.

The mother and child were both reported "doing well."

First Named Club Has Player Trouble With Johnson and Seibert Holdouts

LENGTHY N.H.L. SCHEDULE GIVEN

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Oct. 24.—While his athletes gradually increase their pace in pre-season workouts for the opening of a strenuous National Hockey League season, Lester Patrick, boss of New York Rangers, wears a puzzled frown.

The silver fox of the majors is a trifle upset over the non-appearance of two henchmen in the persons of Ching Johnson, husky defence star, and Earl Seibert. The pair have delayed their approval pending settlement of salary differences.

For some time it has been common knowledge that Seibert was a holdout. Yesterday evening Lester received word that the big Ching also had an attack of contractitis.

The brawny guard was still in New York to-day and until contract troubles are ironed out he is not likely to attend camp workouts.

Absence of Seibert and Johnson leaves Patrick with only his seasoned defencemen—Alex Levisky and Ott Heller. In workouts here, Bill Cook has teamed up inside the blue with Babe Pratt, promising Kenora amateur and a pupil at Lester's training school. Levisky works out beside Heller.

MAROONS WORK HARD
Tommy Gorman is aiming to bring his Maroons into tip-top condition for the season's inaugural first two-hour workouts are the order of the day. Sammy McManus and Aubrey Webster, ace pucketers with Montreal, have joined the team. First, the players are sent through a period of physical training, then some soft ball, followed by an hour and a half of work on the ice, all accomplished in the morning, with golf the afternoon's drill.

Irwin is giving the flock of amateurs here a good chance to show their ability, but the squad will be cut down before the N.H.L. campaign gets underway, and some of the youngsters may be farmed out for more experience. Some of the newcomers are showing some real hockey.

TOUGH ON DEFENCE
Irwin has a unique style of training. He sent George Hainsworth into the net with a pair of defencemen in front, and then lined up all the rest of the players at the other end. In this he sent them rushing down the ice. They so soon get rid of the puck that another line is on the way down, the grill continuing for nearly an hour.

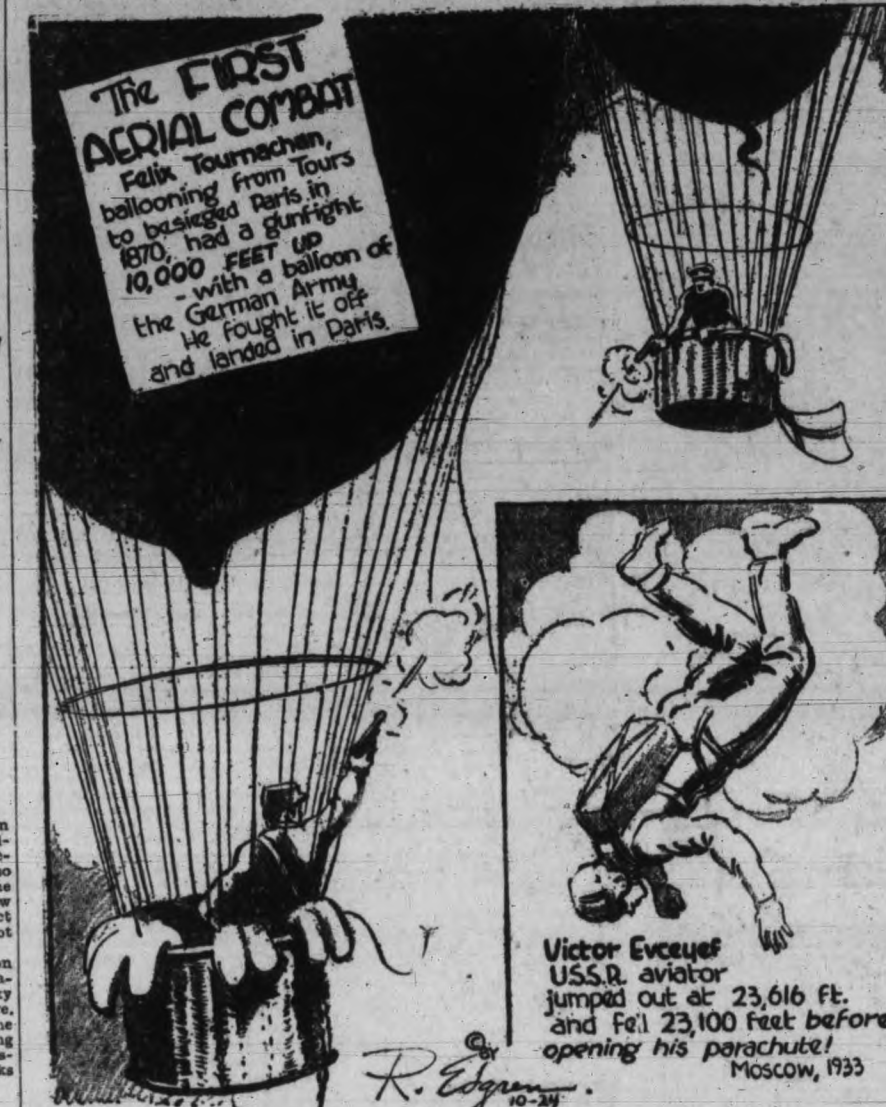

Chicago, Oct. 24.—President William Grant of the American Hockey Association said yesterday a lease had been signed to insure games by St. Louis Flyers at the Wintergarden at St. Louis this winter.

Grant further said that the Garden will be remodelled to increase its seating capacity from the present 3,500 to 5,000 or 6,000.

The amphitheatre has been leased for the National Hockey League season, which opens their schedule November 8.

Grant refused to discuss the assertion by his attorney in St. Louis that the Flyers would play at the Wintergarden.

Hartford, Conn., Oct. 24.—Bat Battalino, Hartford, one time King of the 120-pound battlers, notched another victory in his comeback campaign when he scored a seventh round technical knockout over Cocoa Kid, New Haven negro, before an overflow crowd at Footguard Hall yesterday evening.

Battalino weighed 138 pounds, Cocoa Kid 138½.

Set Forward Army Rugby Game Date

In view of the fact November 12 may not be a general holiday, the Victoria Rugby Union yesterday evening decided to set forward its annual Armistice Day game, between the Canadian Scottish and the Fifth Brigade, to the preceding Saturday, November 10, at yesterday evening's meeting.

The Armistice Day game will be played at MacDonald Park.

MISS HOLLINS IS DEFEATED

Los Angeles, Oct. 24.—Playing in the first women's western championship of her career, Mrs. Tim G. Lowry, Highland Park, Ill., shunted a former national titleholder, Miss Merion Hollins, out of the thirty-second annual tournament yesterday at the Los Angeles Country Club.

The middle westerner, who barely qualified in the playoff for thirty-second place, Monday, won one up on the nineteenth after an uphill struggle with her veteran Santa Clara, Calif., opponent, who captured the country's crown thirteen years ago.

It was the only important upset of an otherwise first round of match play. Faced by Miss Lucile Robinson, Des Moines, Iowa, the defender, the rest of the favorites enjoyed easy sailing. Miss Robinson took a 7 and 6 victory from Miss Grace Douglas, Los Angeles.

By Robert Edgren "McKenzie's Cup" Declare Orillia

Secretary of Eastern Lacrosse Champions Make Interesting Reply to Dan McKenzie's Announcement of Another Canadian Lacrosse Play-off

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Oct. 24.—It's not the Mann Cup, it's Dan McKenzie's Cup," commented Norman Caswell Cook, coach of the Orillia Terriers, to-day, regarding plans for a spring series between Verdun and New Westminster Salmonbellies for the disputed Canadian Lacrosse championship.

President Dan McKenzie of the Canadian Amateur Lacrosse Association, announced yesterday that plans were being made for a Verdun-Salmonbellies series following the forfeiting of the cup by the Orillia Terriers through the playing of an exhibition series with Vancouver St. Helen's against the edict of the Dominion body.

"We're not interested," said Cook. "We beat Verdun and we beat New Westminster. We didn't get the Mann Cup and neither did Hamilton when they won it last year."

Les Dickenson, manager of St. Helen's, said that the constitution of the Dominion body required that the cup be placed under the jurisdiction of the Ontario association until next year. If Terriers ever got their hands on it, he added, they need not give it up until then.

WOULD BE DRASTIC
Dickenson said that if the Canadian body suspended St. Helen's and Terriers, thirty-six clubs would be affected, thirty-three in Ontario and three in British Columbia. This would result, he said, because both provincial organizations had declared their support of the exhibition series here, and would therefore come under the suspension order.

Meaning the exhibition series continues, with St. Helen's to-day boasting a 14 to 11 victory over Orillia in yesterday evening's game. Terriers took the first contest and the second was tied.

EASTMAN AND LITTLE LEAD

Trackster and Golfer Favored to Win Sullivan Memorial Medal Award

New York, Oct. 24.—The most highly prized of all amateur athletic awards in the United States, the James E. Sullivan Memorial Medal for outstanding achievement and character, is likely to go to the far west this year, with Benjamin Eastman and William Lawson Little ranking well on top of the field of candidates so far put forward in a nation-wide poll.

Competition for the medal, which is awarded annually by the Amateur Athletic Union on a voting basis, has been reopened to include representatives in all United States amateur sports for 1934.

Last year, when Glenn Cunningham nosed out his mile-running rival, Edmondson, by a single vote, candidates were limited to the branches of athletics controlled by the Amateur Athletic Union.

JONES WON IN 1930
Now, however, with the contest wide open again, Little has a chance to gain the same distinction that went to Bob Jones, who was voted the Sullivan Medal in 1930, after completing his "grand slam" in golf.

The Californian registered a "little slam" this year by capturing both the British and United States amateur golf championships, but his achievement ranks among the greatest for 1934 in any branch of amateur competition.

Meanwhile, Eastman's foot-racing comeback this year was so startlingly effective that he wound up by having five world records officially credited to him, ranging from his 440-yard mark of 46.4 made in 1932, to his amazing 880 in 1:48.4 made at Princeton last June.

St. Paul, Oct. 24.—Frankie Battaglia, hard-punching Winnipeg middleweight, scored a technical knockout over Bud Saltis, Chicago, in the seventh round of a scheduled ten-round wind-up here yesterday evening.

Battaglia sent the Chicago champion to the floor twice for eight counts in the fourth stanza and bombarded him viciously up to the seventh, when Referee Ulrich halted the bout.

It was the Canadian's slashing left hook that sent Saltis to the canvas in the fourth, opened a cut over his left eye and battered his features relentlessly. Battaglia weighed 161½, Saltis 164.

The union was also told of the illness of H. J. Ketchen, popular local official on the B.C. Union and voted the hopes both would recover shortly.

Vancouver Foresees International Rugby

Look for Assurance of New Zealand Invasion in 1936 and Other Big Matches; C. M. Rolston to Attend Big London Meeting

Prospects of international rugby play were visualized in Vancouver this week as that city foresaw the fostering of closer relations with the International English Rugby Football Board. The mainland hopes revolve around the representation of C. M. Rolston, honorary president of the Vancouver union.

As a direct outgrowth of his visit to the English body, the mainlanders believed the New Zealand team, which will play in Great Britain during the 1935-36 season, would be brought back through Canada and would play in this province.

Vancouver, Oct. 24.—The Vancouver Rugby Union will have a representative to the International English Rugby Football Board in London this winter, it was disclosed at a meeting of delegates Monday night.

C. M. Rolston is to be the ambassador for rugby in Vancouver, British Columbia and Canada. Rolston is making a world tour, a fact which forced him to resign from the honorary presidency he held in the union. While on his travels he will drop in on the parent body in an effort to establish closer relations between the parent union and its Canadian offshoot. Upon the success of his trip Rolston expects to be able to arrange for possible international matches with New Zealand, British and other empire sides.

The most immediate benefit of his trip is expected to be repaid in 1936, with the appearance of the New Zealand team.

ST. HELENS WIN BATTLE

Vancouver Lacrosse Stars Turn Back Champion Orillia Terriers, 14 to 11

Vancouver, Oct. 24.—Outlaws they may be, but St. Helen's, Vancouver, took more than a little comfort to-day as they boasted a feat the vaunted Salmonbellies of New Westminster were unable to accomplish—defeat Orillia's Terriers, erstwhile and a sometime, box lacrosse champions of Canada.

Yesterday evening, in the third game of the five-game exhibition series with the visitors, St. Helen's came out on the long end of a 14 to 11 count.

Down 4 to 3 at the end of the first quarter, the hotelmen went to work in the second to take an 8 to 5 lead at half-time, increase it to 14 to 7 at the three-quarter mark; then stave off a last-quarter rally by Terriers to hand the visitors their first defeat by a western club.

Orillia took a short-lived lead in the first quarter when Tommy Scott, Butch Boettger and Bill and Ernie Curran whipped shots past Happy Smith in the St. Helen's goal. Bill Chestnut, Bill Mirhills and Johnny Dale scored for St. Helen's in the opening period.

FIVE-GOAL SPLURGE
Five goals in the second quarter, two by Mickey Maguire, and the others by Angie McDonald, Charlie Hartney and Maddy Stoddard. The Terriers were held to 5 to 8 lead at half-time.

The Vancouver squad increased its lead in the third quarter, a six-goal spurge. Stoddard, Dale, Chestnut, G. Weinborn, Doc Nicoll and Ken McDonald each scored. Bill Curran and Bill Wilson scored the only goals of the quarter on two smart passes by Ernie Curran.

A belated rally in the final quarter—led by the visitors, four goals, but fell short of catching the hotelmen, although the latter were held scoreless.

England Will Not See Canada's Ice Tourists

Winnipeg Monarchs, Selected to Defend World Amateur Championship at Switzerland Tourney, Will Not Tour Britain; Proposed "Canadian vs. England" Series Draws Fire

London, Oct. 24.—Winnipeg Monarchs, named by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association to officially represent Canada at Davos, Switzerland, this winter to defend what is known as the world's amateur championship, will not perform in England at all, it is learned here.

Satisfactory financial arrangements could not be made between British sports interests and the Monarchs who will tour several European countries.

But England may have a Canada vs. England series of test matches and a long drive for the family was made yesterday by Ellsworth Vines, tennis star. His wife, Verle Louise Vines, gave birth to a second-half-pound girl at a hospital here.

The mother and child were both reported "doing well."

A YOUNG girl said rather wistfully to an elderly woman: "Oh, Mrs. X, your marriage is such an ideal one. You and your husband are so perfectly congenial and you get along together so beautifully. I hope that my marriage will be as happy as yours."

Well, my dear, responded the older woman, "It took me forty years of hard work to make a success of marriage. A happy marriage isn't the result of chance, nor is it a gift of the gods. It is the reward of patience and labor and struggle and striving and self-sacrifice. For every good thing we get we must pay the price. God doesn't put anything worth while having on the bargain table."

"Now, when I got married I thought, as all other brides do, that marriage was going to be a sort of perpetual petting party in which my husband would spend his time telling me how beautiful and wonderful I was, how he adored me, and that his chief occupation would be burning incense at my feet."

"And I never doubted that I would go on seeing my husband as a young godling and the answer to a maiden's prayer, and that our marriage would be a grand sweet song, unmarred by a single discordant note. Our wedding bells wouldn't get jangled and out of tune as soon as the honeymoon was over, as so many other people's do."

"Well, it wasn't long before our marriage also drifted into the I-wonder-what-made-me-do-it stage, and John and I began to look at each other sideways and speculate on whether we wouldn't be happier with some other girl or man, or none at all. John criticized me and I pointed out his faults to him, which didn't endear either one of us to the other. Arguing and quarrelling got to be our favorite indoor sport and Reno began to loom up on the horizon."

"Now I am a domestic woman by nature, one of the kind who can't be happy unless they have a husband and children and home. I knew I would be miserable as a divorcee and that if I married another man I would just exchange one set of faults for another. Besides, I loved John. He might not be all that my girlish fancy pictured him, but he was mine."

"Then I had sense enough to perceive that marriage is what you make it and that its success depends not so much on luck as pluck. Whereupon I deliberately set to work to make of it a profession instead of an odd job."

"Go to it, old girl," I said to myself. "You had brains enough to make a crackjack secretary of yourself, see if you can't get a few medals pinned on your breast as an A-1 wife. You had tact enough to handle grumpy and unreasonable bosses. Why not use the same brand of diplomacy in managing a husband? You had self-control enough not to talk back when fault was found with your work. Why not give the soft answer that turns away wrath when your husband wants to know at breakfast if the hot cakes are supposed to be food or a design for rubber mats?"

"No reason at all. Men are just the same men whether in the home or the office and respond to the same technique. They all want to be yes-sayers. They all want to be regarded as oracles. They're being reminded of a mistake. They all want to be made comfortable and relieved of all the little worries, and they want a woman to act as a buffer between them and the complications and unpleasantness of life."

"Very few women are willing to take as much trouble to please a husband as they are to please their employers. That's why there are so many wives who have lost their jobs. I didn't want to join the ranks of the unemployed married women, so I began trying to make good on mine."

"I commenced by making my home the most pleasant place my husband could go to. I was always a light in the window for him and a good dinner waiting for him the things he liked, cooked the way he liked them. 'Feed the brute' is the best advice that has ever yet been given for domesticating a man. It is the half-starved husbands with no comfortable chair in which to spend the evening who are the roasters."

"Then I babbled my husband. I made him as helpless and dependent on me as if he was three years old instead of thirty. Every successful wife is nine parts mother, and the bigger and the stronger and the more intellectual men are, the more they long to be coddled and chucked under the chin. I have known stony-eyed bankers and stern justices of the supreme court who fell for baby talk and ate it up. So I told my husband he was the poorest little bitty thing in the world and brewed him a brand of home flattery that made other women's flat and tasteless."

"And I waited on him hand and foot. People marvel that he never goes anywhere without me. One reason is that I have made myself good company to him, but another is that he couldn't find a handkerchief or a clean collar if I was not along to hand it out."

"And if we are so congenial that it is a matter of public comment, it is because I have adapted myself to him and cultivated a taste for the things he likes. The two souls with but a single thought, in which all lovers believe, is a myth. Congeniality between men and women is only a surface affair. It doesn't go under the skin, because masculine and feminine nature are essentially different. I wanted to be a pal instead of a ball and chain. And so I have learned to play golf and eat corned beef and cabbage and go to musical comedies and keep up with the stock market, and like it."

"Oh, it takes a lot of work and sacrifice to make marriage a success, but it is worth it. As I said before, God puts no good thing on the bargain table."

UNCLE WIGGLY'S SPRINKLING CART

By HOWARD R. GARRIS

Some of the streets and paths in Woodland, near the Orange Ice Mountains, were so dusty that the animal ladies and gentlemen who lived among them, near Uncle Wiggly's bungalow, aired a jolly old monkey gentleman to sprinkle the dust with water. "It is like having a rain shower—when you want it," said the monkey gentleman. "I'll be glad to do it for you." "Well, I'll keep the cash-set for you," said the monkey. So each day he ran his automobile sprinkling cart up and down the dusty streets and paths of Woodland to make them damp and cool. One day this sprinkling cart monkey said to Uncle Wiggly: "Mr. Longears, I have worked hard all summer driving my sprinkling auto to keep the dust wet. I would like a little vacation. Do you think you could drive for me the jungle to get some bananas and coconuts?" "Why, of course I can!" said Uncle Wiggly. "I'll be glad to." "I thought maybe you would," said the monkey. "You were so kind to all molasses sticks for the candy dog when he was sick." "Oh, yes," said the rabbit gentleman. "But I have to sell any of this sprinkling water?" "No," answered the monkey. "It is all paid for. You just ride on the auto and when you want to, I'll place you pull a handle and the water squirts out of the sprinkling holes at the back and wets the dust. It doesn't make Mr. Twisttail sneeze."

"I'll be most happy to do that," said Uncle Wiggly. "Then I'm going to scam for the jungle!" said the monkey with a laugh. Really he needed a vacation. "It may be the jolliest adventure I ever had to ride on the water cart and sprinkle the dusty roads," said Mr. Longears. So he climbed up to the seat, started the auto and rode along. Each time he came to a dusty place he pulled a handle and "Wet!" out squirted the water from a row of holes like those in a sprinkling can.

"Good work, Wiggly! Good work!" cried Mr. Twisttail as the dust in out of his pen house was wet so it wouldn't make him sneeze. "Oh, I like to do it," said Mr. Longears. "A jolly fun!"

Two days Uncle Wiggly wet the dust. On the third day, when it was very hot and dry and when the wind blew the dust all over and Mr. Twisttail was sneezing hard, Uncle Wiggly did not ride on the monkey gentleman's sprinkling cart.

"What's the matter? What's the matter?" asked the animal ladies, whose noses were being filled with dust. "Where's the sprinkling cart? What has happened?" cried Mr. Twisttail.

"To make inquiries!" "To—what? To—what?—to—what?" asked the fat pig gentleman, Uncle Wiggly wasn't in his bungalow. He wasn't at the monkey's garage, nor was the sprinkling cart.

"Uncle Wiggly came and got the auto with the tank full of water and drove off to wet the dust," said the monkey's wife. "I don't know what has happened to him," said the pig. He waddled through the woods and all of a sudden, he heard merry shouts and laughter. He looked through the bushes and near a dusty place he saw Uncle Wiggly sitting on the auto cart. The rabbit was holding the handle. Out of the back end was squirting all the water. Dancing in and out of the shower were a lot of animal boys and girls, splashing in the lovely mud puddle Mr. Longears had made for them.

"This is a—fun—fun—fun—watering streets!" laughed Mr. Longears. "Hurrah! Hurrah!" cried the children. "Ker choo! Ker choo! Ker choo!" sneezed the pig. And if the sneezing will give the goldfish a hollypop to play with I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly's bread. (Copyright, 1934, by H. R. Garriss)

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1934

Astrologers read this as an unimportant day in planetary direction. Beaten paths are safest, however, for adverse aspects are active.

Destructive criticism may be prevalent under this rule of the stars. Husbands and wives should guard their words. No should political candidates.

Accidents may be numerous to-day. Automobiles may be dangerous and airplane journeys no less hazardous than travel on land.

Women are subject to unfavorable planetary influences. The stars seem to have many high ambitions. Public offices and business positions may be difficult to obtain.

Marriage and divorce will be discussed with the stars. The stars seem to have the augury of a year of average good fortune. Both men and women should beware of envy and jealousy.

Children born on this day probably will be independent and adventurous. The subjects of this sign, usually have power to carry out their plans, for they are optimistic.

Commander R. E. Byrd, explorer and aviator, was born on this day, 1888. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Henry Morris Russell, astronomer, 1877, and John H. Wills, former ambassador to Poland, 1872.
